"Snake Milker" Shows Reptiles At Assembly

Entertains Students With Undersea Pictures in Assembly

On Thursday, October 16, the pupils of Johnny Appleseed witnessed a very amazing show in our auditorium. E. Ross Allen, "Florida's Famous Nature Man," presented a show in the auditorium with movies and live reptiles.

Mr. Ross showed in his movie how he caught his animals and also how he wrestled with an alligator.

Mr. Ross makes his living by "milking" snakes at his cabin in Florida. He has gained the nickname of "The Snake Milker." He "milks" his snakes and then sells the venom, which is useful in cur-

The Goblins Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out

By NANCY McCOMBS

Most of us think of Hallowe'en as a time of fun and gaiety, for dressing up in weird costumes and playing pranks, but long ago this festival was celebrated, too. In those olden days when Romans ruled, Pomona, the goddess of fruit trees, was honored about the first of November. In Britain, the druids celebrated at the same time honoring the sun god, and also in thanksgiving for the harvest. In the minds of the Britons the two festivals seem to have become one.

When the people became Christians, the early church fathers wisely let them keep their old feast, but gave it a new association by holding it in commemoration of all saints and martyrs. Then the eve of the festival came to be called All Hallow E'en, the name coming from the old English word halwe, or as we now say it, holy. Eve of this feast was October 31st and the Feast of all saints on November 1st.

Quite a few ideas and beliefs have arisen around this feast, as the belief that on this night of the year the spirits of the dead were allowed to visit their old homes. People in many places used to prepare food and tidy their houses for the entertainment of the spirit "guests."

Band Members Elect Captain and Sergeants

At the regular band practice on October 2, the Appleseed Band elected the following sergeants and captain: Captain, Murray Swihart; sergeants, John Cook, Don McCready, George Frank, David Faye, Bill Klinger, Cliff Walker, David Stahl, and Gene Traxler.

On Tuesday, October 7, the Band Club held their monthly meeting in the school cafeteria. After the covered dish dinner, the band parents decided to use the money in the treasury to purchase a base horn. After the business meeting, the parents and children enjoyed playing games in the gym. The meeting adjourned at 9:30.

Mr. Rose, his wife, and their assistant, Mr. Moore, operated the strings. They have had fifteen years' experience with puppets. They have some 150 marionettes, but carry only 50 of them when traveling. They have their own stage and lighting equipment along with the dolls.

The afternoon show was all in rhyme for the children. The evening play was more for grown-ups.

After their engagement here, they were going to Lima, then on to Detroit and south for the winter.

Ninth Graders Welcome Seventh At Assembly

Acquaint Newcomers with Traditions of Appleseed Junior High

To the accompaniment of the Johnny Appleseed band, under the direction of Mr. J. Merton Holcombe, the ninth grade students marched into the auditorium on October 9 and took their seats in the center sections reserved for them.

The program was the result of a joint effort of the newly elected officers and representatives of the ninth grade and the Faculty Assembly Committee. As Mr. Correll aptly put it, "It was an expression of our faith in democracy, an indication that democracy is not only a political system, not only a parliamentary procedure, but a definite way of life which reaches down to the home, the school, and the community. It is the characteristic way of getting things done at Johnny Appleseed." This program was designed to honor the ninth grade by giving them their just place of leadership at Johnny Appleseed, and at the same time was planned to give a friendly welcome to the newcomers at our school and acquaint them with our traditions and standards of behavior.

As the curtain was drawn, officers, speakers, representatives, and guests were on the platform. When everyone was seated, a Boy Scout Color Guard of George Loesch, Norman Pore, and Bob Mangan brought the American Flag forward. While it was being placed, Jimmy Smith, ninth grade president of last year, played the Call to the Colors. Following this, Helen Pecht, secretary, led the assembly in the Pledge to the Flag. Mr. Correll, who was general chairman of the program, made a few introductory remarks and introduced Murray Swihart, president of the ninth graders. Murray welcomed all newcomers to Johnny Appleseed, introduced his co-officers, and announced Mr. Thoms, the ninth grade class advisor, who played a large part in arranging the program. Charles Sauder, vice president, followed, leading the American's Creed. Mr. Correll returned to introduce Max Morrison and Charles Champion, who played the banjo, guitar, and piano. Mr. Harmony said a few words and presented Mrs. G. E. Young, president of the Parent-Teachers Association, who also welcomed new pupils.

The president again took the floor to permit some ninth grade leaders to tell about their organizations. The Johnny Appleseed Hi-Y was represented by its president, Earl Wendell; Junior Red Cross and Girls' Leaders Club by Jean Rupp; the football team by Dick Haley; the Girls' Athletic Association and the "Press" by Anne Ford.

John Stanton, Virginia Barnett, Jean Johnston, Helen Pecht, and Anne Ford, the ninth grade cheerleaders, led two cheers, one for Appleseed and one for the team.

Jimmy Smith told about our traditions and those we hope to build up in coming years. Joan Kullman and Fred Werner pre-

Ninth Grade Sponsors Football Hop

Last night in the gym, the Appleseeders and Simpsoners overlocked their feud of the night before and danced to the music of Art Ullman. The hop was sponsored by the ninth grade which is headed by Murray Swihart, president, and Mr. Thoms, advisor.

There were several committees appointed to take care of the necessary arrangements. They were: Murray Swihart, Charles Sauder, Helen Pecht, Joan Kullman, Fred Werner, Kenneth Holmes, and Rosemary Leonard. Helen Pecht was in charge of the stunts which each ninth grade room presented. Charles Sauder took care of the refreshments which sold very well. The other committees were composed of ticket sellers from each of the twenty-one home rooms. Dancing was from 7:30 to 10:30 for 28 cents per couple and 17 cents single.

Presenting The Press Policy

By ANNE FORD

It is the policy of the Appleseed Press to present the news as straight as we can. We try to keep everyone happy about the whole thing, not to seriously hurt anyone's feelings by slams or by linking names, and to give as many people as we can some notice in our paper.

We like to be known as the voice of the school, but not too loud a voice. We want you to like us, and if you have any complaints, please register them with some member of the staff.

Bump, Bang, Boom!

By JEAN JOHNSTON

That's the way some of the students treat our building. They're either bumping into something or banging their lockers or throwing their books down with a loud boom! In some of our study halls there are carvings on the desks. Some people don't act like they ever heard of the "Golden Rule." They don't think ahead when other pupils will be coming to Appleseed who deserve a good building, too. So let's start a campaign to take care of our building! Do your bit!

Manners—What It Takes

By CLAUDIA MARKS

Courtesy and manners are the essence of good breeding—so let us start with the first step and be thoughtful of our teachers.

May we, as students, have the power to make the burden of our teachers much less by being considerate of them in every detail—so that by our thoughtfulness they will in return be better fitted to serve us to the best of their ability.

Helpful Hints

By HOMER

Hello, boys and girls. This is your old friend, helpful Homer, coming to you from newsroom (101) and bringing you solutions to the problems you run into everyday. Now for helpful hint No. 1: If you have trouble falling down the stairs frontwards, try going down backwards. Brilliant, isn't it? Now I know most of you have trouble dropping books. Homer has a super solution to this one. Instead of carrying your books in your arms, attach a strong cord to your belt or tie it around your waist and let your books drag along the floor. If you are getting tired of having cars splash you, beat them to it and splash them first.

Many of you have lesson problems. If you are one of those who never have your lessons, you can always talk about the weather. Advice to gym players: If you get rather warm playing a strenuous game, just take your fan along with you. Many of you have difficulty doing home work. If this is true about you, try this solution, Do it at school. If you have a favorite program and simply can't miss it, there is always the portable. If you have trouble doing your math, try figuring it out.

Dramatic Classes Select Plays

The ninth grade dramatic classes have started preparations for their first plays for this year. The Monday-Tuesday class will present "At the Fountain," a one-act play which takes place in a drug store. The Thursday-Friday class has not definitely decided on their play. Tryouts are being held and final parts will be decided on by the members of the board of directors. After the parts have been assigned, committees will be formed for scenery, costumes, and make-up so that everyone in the class will have some part.

Individual projects have been undertaken by many pupils. Some are making scrapbooks of famous actors and actresses, well known plays and movie stars, while others are dramatizing scenes from plays or making miniature stage sets.

Books on Parade

If you bookworms think you've read all the interesting books, you're very much mistaken. Girls try "The Campus at Westlands," by Allee, a story of two girls at a summer camp; "High Hurdles," by Frances Duncombe, a story of a horse; and there is "The Middle Button," by Kathryn Worth, a story of a southern girl, who finds a way to attend medical school.

A few of the books for boys are "Spanish Ingots," by Commander Edward Ellsberg, another of his exciting undersea stories, and "Smoke Eater," by Howard M. Brien, a story of firemen. "Piang, the Moro Chieftain," by F. P. Stuart should prove exciting for boys who like stories of the Philippines.

Two popular mysteries are "Mystery of Pennworth," by Ruth Sander, and "Mystery of the Black Cat," by T. A. Wadsworth.

These are only a part of the interesting new books in our school library.

What's New?

By PEGGY FOLTZ

"Assembly Line Fashions," as streamlined as the glistening planes rolling off the assembly lines over America—bibs inspired by the toolmakers' aprons! Wear them over skirt and shirt or tailored dress, and stuff the pockets with pencils and rulers. Flannel slacks as tailored as those worn by Jacqueline Cochran when she flew a bomber to England. Suits as smooth as the wings of a plane. An entire new order of fashions, all inspired by the new order of activity on the defense fronts of America.

The All-American wooden jewelry, depicting a rugged-faced Indian chieftan, a miniature totem pole and the head of a circus horse which as a pin has studded brass trappings, proud mane and very tall red and white plumes.

The new Chilton beret named for a town in England where it is regulation headgear, is worn with a jumper dress or suit of men's wool-flannel.

The middy blouse grows up and becomes a dress fashion loved by school girls and is perfect for school and football games.

One of the newest fashion whims, pigtailed for sports, can be made of felt instead of your own hair and worn with a hat. The braided bands of felts that make the tails are attached to a little dutch-like cap.

The new "shaggy back" mop-ems mitts, soft and saucy, are perfect for morning, noon and night on any school green.

Anklets in new autumn shades monogrammed with metal initials, a clever new idea destined to spread like wildfire from one end of the school to the other.

Accent on your scarf! For that magic touch of color this fall . . . and pinch-hitting for a pocketbook comes a new idea, a scarf with pockets in the ends.

Snooping Reporters

We, the snooping reporters, got busy one day and went out in search of odd bits of news.

Our sixth sense seemed to lead us to Miss Tucker's Home Ec. room, where we found her busily rushing around adding a dash of vanilla here and a dash of salt there. We finally stopped her long enough to learn that the ninth grade classes are going to try their hand at baking cookies, cakes and breads, while the seventh graders will make muffins. But as our stomachs got the best of us, we had to get out of there . . . but quick.

As we entered Mr. Correll's room we saw a state of confusion—or in other words, teacher was busy spring (?) housecleaning his desk. But finally, he stopped long enough to tell us what his classes are going to study in future weeks. They will learn how people live and work on American farms, the corn, the wheat, and the cereal belts and their distributions. They will also investigate conditions under which vegetables and fruits grow. In conclusion, they will study the kinds and uses of various fish which inhabit American waters.

Going down the steps and away to the other side of the building we got very tired, but soon perked up when we entered Miss Percy's room and saw all the musical history books. We found out how important these books were to be when she told us about the biographies we were to write. We have our choice of two composers which are Purcell and Handel.

Ninth grade classes are making imitation wood block prints. The eighth grade classes are making designs which will later be made into Christmas projects.

words, so all we could get out of him was the fact that his classes would study a few fractions and make some simple house plans.

Between trying to grade papers and talk to us, Miss Stark had a hard time. But she finally told us that a lot of seventh graders had gone to see "Rip Van Winkle" since they are reading about him. Just then the bell caught us so we had to be on our way, so we shall go back to our corners until the next time.

By PORKIE PIG

Hi, folks! This is Porkie Pig, your daffy reporter again.

Saw Jean Rupp and Virginia Kiester gadding about again. The place was the Madison Theater, and the "subject" was Cab Callaways' red hot jive.

Yep, we're super, sensational, colossal, perfect. Oh, I'm running out of adjectives, but we were swell. Well, at least the football team is. Did you see that game when we played Sandusky? 7 to 19 in our favor. Yippie!!!

Yea, team! Yea, team—Appleseed! Bet'cha can't guess what our new cheerleaders' uniforms are going to be like. O. Y., you can stop racking your brains, 'cause I'm going to tell anyhow. The girls are going to wear maroon skirts, white sweat shirts with the megaphone emblem. They will also wear Maroon and Gold jackets. Pretty snazzy, isn't it, kids?

Yippee! Bob Dysart is being told off in French class. The other day Ruth Gerber told Bob to "fermez la bouche." Ask Miss Shaffer what it means.

Your loving reporter, Porkie Pig can't help but wonder why Anne Ford was running around like a chicken without a head October 21, but it's none of my business, so skip it.

Well, I'm signing off now with love and kisses.

Coach Accepts Position With U. S. Army Air Corps

Coach Cameron left yesterday for Alabama and a new job. We hate to lose him, but wish him lots of luck on his new job.

Jokingly, he said he had to go south because he had no money to buy winter clothes. The real reason is that he will join the Fourth Army Air Corps as a Physical Director. The exact place for the present is Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Alabama. He will be trained there for future work.

After a short training period, he will be assigned as Army Air Corps Physical Director in the Southeast where his wife and son will join him.

He has promised to send us his address as soon as he learns it. We have also promised to send him "The Appleseed Press."

Coach has been married three years and has a son 16 months old. While in high school he was coach of the wrestling team. In 1938 he graduated from the University of Michigan and in 1939 he came to Appleseed.

Coach was not drafted, but enlisted to get a better job. Although we hate to see him go, we congratulate him on his advancement.

Appleseed 33, Bellville 0

The Bellville boys found the Appleseed eleven too strong and came out on the short end of a 33-0 score on October 2.

Beckel made three of the Pioneer's touchdowns with Joseph recovering a Bellville fumble for the fourth. Myer's pass to Swihart accounted for the fifth. Zeller plunged for two extra points and Myers passed to Swihart for the third.

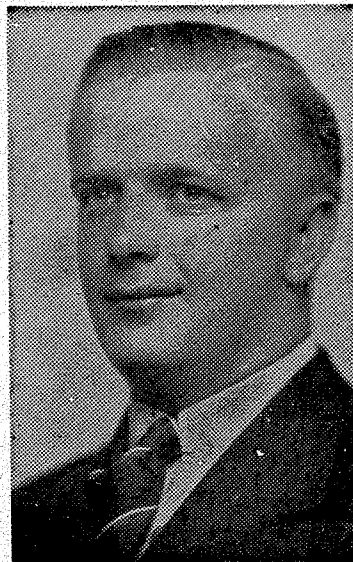

The game was Appleseed all the way, making two touchdowns in the first three plays. The game was played at Appleseed in the rain and mud.

Team Ties Butler With 0-0 Score

The Johnny Appleseed eleven tangled with the Butler High varsity, on September 26. Both teams had a good defense against touchdowns, thus the score was 0-0.

The Appleseed boys bucked the line too fast and were set back 105 yards on penalties. The more calm Butler gridders had only 15 yards in penalties.

Butler took the offensive most of the time but failed to "click." They drew one of their five-yard penalties while making a gain from the five to the one-yard line. (Miller, Appleseed quarterback, stopped the ball carrier.)

Appleseed's team was a little excited in the first half, but they settled down and played their best in the second half. Myers, Zeller, Miller, and Beckel (our backfield) played very well against larger players.

Pioneers Defeat Sandusky Team

The Appleseed Pioneers marched to their third victory before a few hundred rain-dribbled fans. They defeated Sandusky by a score of 19 to 7.

Coach Cameron's boys crossed up the Sandusky eleven in the first quarter by trying a series of reverses and plunges, then Myer's pass to Swihart caught the Sandusky backs flatfooted. Swihart carried the ball over for the tally. Appleseed's backs, Zeller and Beckel, came through in the third and fourth periods for 13 more points.

Domanti plunged over in the second period for Sandusky's only tally.

Appleseed Loses Pioneers Win

The scheduled game with Galion fell through because of a mix-up in schedules. Coach Cameron did not want to disappoint the boys, so he called a game between the Reds and Maroons both made up from the Pioneer squad.

The Red team was comprised of the first string line and the second string backfield. The winning Maroons, 13 to 0, had a second string line and the varsity backfield.

Both teams were held scoreless during the first half, but Beckel skirted the end for a pointer. Again in the last period the Maroon fullback, Zeller, broke away for six more points and kicked the extra point.

The Red backfield failed to click for any scores, but they played well against their teammates.

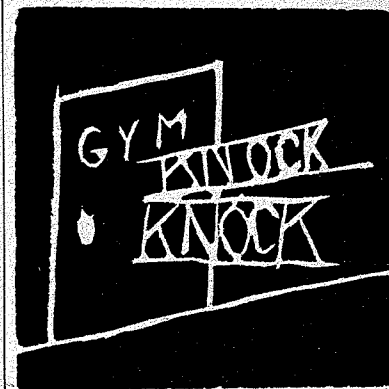

Simpson-Madison Ends in Tie

John Simpson's gridders battled Madison High school reserves, but the game ended in a 22-22 tie.

Roland Schmidt, Simpson back, scored all of Simpson's tallies. He set sail on two 60-yard gallops to score twelve points. Zivkoff and Boliantz also merit watching.

Madison's eleven failed to gain much but proved they could add, 5 yards, 6 yards, 8 yards, and 10 yards and get a sum of 22 points.

Noonday Resume

Oh, there she is again, Virginia Keister, and that inevitable crowd around her.

No offense, boys, but must you link arms and push us poor defenseless little girls off the sidewalk!

I wonder if the boys in 102 rush out of the room with a flash because they're hungry? (I've got a feeling it isn't.)

Oh, by the way, girls, did you see Denzil Blake's cute white bunny fur mittens? And he can knit, too. He's going to make some little girl a happy wife.

Don't Blame Us

For the grades we get on our gradecards. (Blame it on Wilber.) That Hallowe'en comes but once a year.

If you didn't have a good time at the Y dance.

That Wayne Millers asks so many questions.

If we don't have a coach by the time basketball season opens.

That people insist on shooting paper wads in study hall.

If certain "children" like to go to the kiddie shows on Saturday.

SHOWER SHORTS

By ANNE FORD

Everyone got quite a laugh out of some seventh graders a few weeks ago. Miss Garner told them to get their suits and shoes big enough to wear for three years, so some of them who wear size 4 shoes came to school with 8's.

x x x

Everyone showed fine spirit in the intramural tournaments. We had some good teams and fine players. Let's keep up the good work.

x x x

One eighth grade girl wondered why she couldn't get the bounceball over the net when all she did close her eyes when she hit it!

x x x

Imagine Nancy Giles' surprise when her bounceball serve made a basket.

x x x

Miss Garner gave Coach Cameron the remainder of her sticky candy which was licorice that she didn't like. No wonder he's "chubby."

x x x

On those rainy days ninth grade boys and girls had a lot of fun playing mixed volleyball.

G.A.A. POINT SYSTEM

For the benefit of members of G.A.A., an outline of the point system is following:

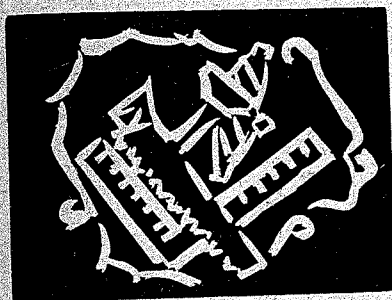

5—any intramural team membership; 50—honorary team; 100—Ice Skating Derby; 50—placing in Derby; 10—officiating in tournaments; 50—functioning on a committee; 75—chairman of a committee, and 100-50—officers.

To get your numerals, you must have 600 points: 1000 must be earned to get your emblem, and 1500 points must be earned to get your bracelet.

GIRL RESERVES BOWL

The ninth grade group of Girl Reserves went bowling at Colony Bowling Alleys, Wednesday, October 15, at 4:30. The bowling balls were bumping up and down the alley instead of rolling at first. None of the scores were very high.

Shop News

Boys in the seventh grade are making lamps, towel folders, sandpaper blocks, and some of them are starting right out with mechanical drawing.

Now, the eighth grade boys are working with wood machines. They are making gun cabinets, tool boxes, end tables, and camp boxes. The second half of the year these boys will take up mechanical drawing.

Ninth grade boys are working in three classes: wood machine work, metal work and electricity. In the wood machine work they make materials much like the eighth grade. For instance, hammers, chisels and punches. In metal work they are making tin boxes, funnels and scoops. In electricity they are making telegraph keys, buzzers and motors.

The directors of shop classes are Mr. Hostetler and Mr. Clouse.

Projector Operators Assigned Work Time

New moving picture operators were chosen this year to run the movie projectors.

The following boys were assigned to different periods: First period, Robert Dysart, Richard James; second period, Max Morrison, Fred Werner, Earl Wendell; third period, James Burkhart, Thomas Daum, Donald Johnson, David Marchant; fourth period, Robert Myers, Thomas Daum; fifth period, Fritz Schenk, James Burkhart; sixth period, Robert Myres, Leslie Myers, Eugene Theesen; seventh period, Eugene Theesen, Leslie Myers; eighth period, Robert Lamb, Charles Sauder.

With eight years of private duty behind her, she took up public health and has been at it ever since. Beautiful You—

By MLE. CHIC

Hello! It certainly is fun to be here and what's more to tell you how you can be "smooth." Being "smooth" is just that little trick of knowing how to make the most of yourself. It may be, you have some handicaps to start with—everyone has—but you also may have some good points which you are not playing up for all they're worth.

Do you think it takes a pretty face to make a "smooth" girl? Quite wrong you are. The girl who is not pretty takes more pains to develop a personality. If you take a good look, you'll find that the most popular girls are seldom the prettiest. They are the girls who know how to make the most of their looks.

There are a few beauty tips that they know that I want to pass on to you. If your skin is the creamy kind, you can just pass up this tip. But if your nose and chin and forehead disgrace you with blackheads and bumps, try this during the winter months. Every night wash your face with a complexion brush and a very mild soap, rinse it with warm then cool and then cold water, and pat it dry with a towel.

When you are trying to think up a new hair style that will knock everybody cold with envy, use your brush instead of your comb to help you. In the brush family there are also toothbrush and clothes brush—nice people to know, good friends. They'll stick by you and help make a "smooth" sub-deb of you. There are no fancy tricks to being "smooth." You just have to do these simple things, but keep doing them.

When all of the girls in the sewing classes are finished with their towels they will take time out to practice and get better acquainted with the sewing machine. After they think they know the principal parts; the names of the parts and how to use them, they can start on their aprons. There will be many different kinds of aprons, namely, gingham, necktie, checked, plain and dutch. Bits of ricrac, buttons and bias tape will set them off.

Earning recognition for your grades the first six weeks is rather difficult because of new subjects and new teachers. Also the summer vacation seems to slow down the rate of learning for some reason or other.

Those who have all A's in major subjects and no less than C in minor subjects are on the honor roll, which is the highest recognition given.

All A's and B's with no less than C in major subjects makes one eligible for placement on the honorable mention list.

Advice to Lovelorn

By CLARABELLE and MATILDA

Dear Boys and Girls:

This is the first time this little column has been printed. We want to make it a big success. It is the result of a brilliant inspiration of Clarabelle and Matilda. Write to us and tell us your problems. Leave your letters with Miss Shaffer (our landlady) 101, Lovelane.

Q. Dear Matilda and Clarabelle: I am a very pretty girl with an enchanting personality, but the boy I go with keeps flirting with other females. What shall I do?—Your Sorrowful Lover.

A. Give him a taste of his own medicine. Flirt with other boys.

Q. Dear Clarabelle and Matilda: My girl doesn't like the clothes I wear but I do. What shall I do?

A. Don't.

Now, boys and girls, we do hope you will present your little problems to us, so don't forget. Bye-bye.

Pottery Making Can Be Fun—

By JO ANN BEELMAN and CLAUDIA MARKS

The art of making pottery goes back to the dim, dark ages—perhaps even to the cave man. That's the kind of pottery that's made of clay and water, then baked in a kiln or furnace. The pottery we are turning out is much newer and much easier to make. Our pottery is made of grapefruit or orange skins, crepe paper, glue and varnish. We've made many interesting little pin trays, ash trays and wee bowls.

This is the way we do it: collect the skins of orange and grapefruit halves. Remove the white inner skins and let them dry in the sun for several days. Next, sandpaper the skins inside and out. Glue bright bits of crepe paper to the inside and outside of the shells. If you select strong colors, red, blue, orange, purple, green—and cut the paper bits into squares, circles, moons, triangles, your bowls and trays will look like Mexican or Indian pottery. As a finish, give your pottery a coat of waterproof varnish.

In his collection of skins displayed on the stage were a panther hide, wildcat skin, raccoon skin, and an otter skin. In his collection of snake skins, Mr. Ross had a Coral snake skin, copperhead skin, a moccasin snake skin, and a nine-foot rattlesnake skin. He also had with him one of the fastest snakes alive. It was the coach whip. Mr. Ross also had some live reptiles, two of which were rattlers. With one of the snakes he showed us how he milked them.

Mr. Ross has been handling reptiles for over fifteen years and his snake farm in Florida is valued at $40,000.

Exchange News

Several papers have been received so far this year from different schools. Among these is "The Rambler." According to that paper, "Writing stories for a newspaper is like planning meals for the day." This was said by Judy O'Grady, who writes the "Colonel's Lady and Others," a society column. It also gave Ten Commandments of work which they put into use. They are:

1. Study with a system.
 2. Get on your mark, get set, and go speedily.
 3. Work hard and intensively.
 4. Make your daily assignments part of a connected whole.
 5. Do your own work.
 6. Use extra time for quick mental review.
 7. Know your textbook.
 8. Recite outside classes as well as in.
 9. Keep a systematic notebook.
 10. Never stop learning.
- Sounds quite studious, doesn't it?

"Did you get your homework?" is a familiar question often heard in the halls. Following is a poem read in "The Kirkonian," entitled "My Homework."

"Homework! Oh it drives me mad;
It makes me weary and leaves me sad,
For just last night when I wanted to play,
My homework there in front of me lay."

By the "Havermale News" this month we learned how to run an outboard motor. First of all, you fasten the motor securely upon the boat and then you reach around to the side and twist the whatchamacallit and then wind the doohickey around the whatsit and then twist another little know someplace around there. You jerk the which and then turn the doohickey and rattle off. (Simple, isn't it?)
