Ninth Grade Gives Class Day Assembly

With the reading of the class history the ninth grade assembly was opened June 1. Following this, several poems and essays about "My Life at Appleseed" were read.

Next on the program were the will and prophecy which were read by Judge Dick Haas and fortune-teller Nancy Osburn. The class song, written by Peggy Cole, Oleta Novotny and Nancy Osburn, was then sung.

The presentation of the gift to the school, a fifty-dollar war bond from the 9A Class, was next on the program.

"In Memorium"—a service dedicated to our boys in the Pacific Theatre of war—followed the presentation of the gift. Last on the program was a song by the entire group.

VICTORY NEWS

Students Helped Bring Victory

V-E day is here at last! Everyone waited a long time for it. In some way all students have helped to bring it closer.

Johnny Appleseed students contributed to various drives. There were the paper drives, the record drive, the clothing drive, and the stamp and bond drives.

The Boy Scouts helped in the potato harvests, in running errands at the blood bank, and in serving as Air Raid messengers. Boy Scout troops collected paper and tin cans.

Bond—Stamp Purchases High

Contests helped raise the total of bond purchases. In 1942-'43, General McArthur's picture was won by room 103 for having the highest total in bond and stamp sales.

Robert Huff was the first person to purchase a war bond in 1944. Mrs. John Rachel's home room, 115, was the first to reach the 90% or over goal in the school that year. In May, 1944 the school was given a special certificate and authorization to fly the Minuteman flag. This was awarded because 92.2% of the pupils had bought war stamps or bonds.

For the present year the bond and stamp purchase total is $6,318.05. Since November, 1942, the school has purchased $750 of Series F bonds with the money earned by the sales tax stamp collections.

Junior Red Cross Active

The Junior Red Cross made holiday favors for wounded soldiers. They also sponsored the making of matchboxes which were done in the art classes for the wounded men at Chillicothe. In previous years they knitted comforters, and made ash trays, and bedside utility bags.

Greeting Cards For Vets

Seventh, eighth, and ninth grade art classes have been spending their time making five-hundred greeting cards for men in veterans' hospitals to send to their families and friends through the Junior Red Cross. They have made the same number of menu cards also.

JUNIOR RED CROSS PROJECTS COMPLETED

Under the supervision of Mrs. Raymond Dent, the Junior Red Cross has completed its projects for the school year. This year they have made many useful things for use over-seas and in veterans' hospitals in this country. Below is a summary of their work.

The Junior Red Cross made wash cloths and canes for veterans' hospitals.

Students helped to distribute one-hundred-per-cent seals and posters.

The Junior Red Cross made posters for St. Patrick's Day.

Seventh grade art classes made match box covers for the Veterans' Hospital at Chillicothe.

Records Contributed For Fletcher Hospital

The hours will pass a little faster for the wounded men at Fletcher General Hospital, thanks to many students who brought records or donated money for new records. In connection with the city-wide drive, the students made two kinds of contributions. They had a choice of bringing records or donating money. A box was placed in the lobby for records. In all 148 records were donated. A donation jar was placed in the office for those who had no records to bring.

This record drive was sponsored by the Zeta Rho Chapter, Delta Theta Tau Sorority.

WE CAN HELP THE FIGHTING MEN—

- By salvaging grease.
- By saving all waste paper.
- By buying stamps and bonds.
- By supporting all drives such as clothing drives, record drives, etc.
- By salvaging tin cans.
- By saving caps from Coca-Cola bottles, Pepsi Cola bottles, etc.
- By getting summer jobs.
- By donating money and supplies to the Red Cross.
- By writing letters to men in service.

Alumni in Service

Stationed at San Francisco, California, Jack Leonard is an Electrician's Mate on a carrier. His job is to repair the wires on his carrier. He has had training at Great Lakes, Illinois, and at Purdue University. Jack enlisted February 12, 1944.

James Curry is an Apprentice Seaman and is now stationed at Williams College, Massachusetts awaiting orders to enter a medical school. Jim recently won the Benedict award for the most outstanding student in German.

Machinist's Mate Second Class Norman Leech is now somewhere in the Pacific. He entered the service July 27, 1943.

Former Appleseeder Killed in Action

Charles Jones, former Appleseed student, was killed in action April 9, 1945. He was with the seventh army in Germany.

While in school he was a prominent member of the band and was the featured trumpet soloist in the annual band concert. He was graduated from Senior High in 1944. He was inducted June 23, 1944, and trained at Camp Stewart Georgia, Camp Housey, Texas, and at Camp Mead, Maryland.

Charles was born February 5, 1926, in Canton, Ohio.

Victory Would Be Closer if—

Russel Betz and Jim Gleason would stop throwing such big paper wads.

We would continue buying stamps and bonds as we did for the ambulance.

People were more willing to bring paper for the paper drives.

The janitors didn't have to spend their time washing marks off the walls and cleaning out the light globes.

More boys would take jobs like Albert Teger and Bob Bracy at Stran Steel.

If Jack Brenneman's job at Barnes Manufacturing would give other boys ideas.

If girls planned to help in homes to free other workers for war jobs.

MR. THOM'S ROOM HIGHEST IN STAMP SALES

Mr. J. J. Thom's home room was in first place with 100% in the sales of war stamps in April. In second place was Mrs. Rachel's room with 95%. Mr. W. B. Lantz's room was third with 91%. Other rooms had the following percentage: Miss Helen Herring's, 211—85%; Miss Margaret Wheeler's, 104—78.7%; Miss Edith Beck's 102—78%; Mrs. Mabel Derr's, 202—73.52%; Miss Virginia Stark's, 215—72%; Miss Alice Kirkwood's, 105—70.6%; Miss Muriel Voll's, 111—63%; Mr. Robert Davis's, 212—57%; Miss Ellena Percy's, 110—46%; Miss Helen Widders's, 213—45%; Miss Anita Strauch's, 103—43.33%; Miss Doris Doggett's, 101—40%; Mrs. Dorothy Brune's, 214—33.13%; Mr. Ensil McNabb's, 114—31%; Mrs. Nellie Dent's, 214—25%; Miss Elaine Grahl's, 106—19%; Mrs. Eureka Schuff's, 109—15.58%; Miss Edna Tucker's, 206—10%.

Students Can Help

Students can do many useful jobs this summer. They can not only earn money, but also be a real help.

Boys and girls can mow lawns, work in stores, tend gardens, and so forth. For those who like the country, there are many jobs they can do to help farmers.

Clothing Collection Ends

Everything from babies' garments to women's fur coats were brought to churches, schools, police and fire departments and many business establishments in the used-clothing collection which started April 9 and ended April 30, 1945.

Sunday, April 22, Boy Scouts visited all Mansfield in trucks and gathered the clothing.

Mansfield exceeded its quota of 150,000 pounds.

After the campaign ended, the clothes were shipped in box cars to New York to be sent to European countries which had been occupied by the Nazis.

One day the pupils brought objects which had been made in the Pan-American countries and put them on display in the class room.

In their studies of Pan-American countries, the seventh graders learned much about the products and economic development of each of the twenty-one countries of Pan-America. The pupils feel that they now have a better understanding of the neighbor countries and their problems.

What Do YOU Buy?

"Do you want some defense stamps today?" Does your teacher ask you this question on Friday mornings? Do you buy stamps or do you decide to wait till next week or decide that it's not important? Do you buy stamps with your money or spend it for a soda?

The seventh war loan drive starts May 14 and continues through June 30. Last year there were 3 drives. This year there will be only two. TWO must equal three! YOUR money is needed to make it a success. $7,000,000,000 is the total for individuals in this drive. $4,000,000,000 is the total for the national E bonds. Will you buy one?

A Ninth Grader's Feelings

Life at Appleseed will soon, too soon, draw to a close for the ninth grade class. A week and a half from now we will leave Appleseed's beautiful portals for the last time as students. Now we feel like members of a large family, but if we ever return again we will feel like very distant relatives or visitors.

We ninth graders might not have been or done anything wonderful, but at least we have tried. That's all we ask of you eighth graders. Don't let us down! Keep up Appleseed's reputation or better still, improve it! Well, we are leaving Appleseed in your hands; please take care of it!

The Principal Says—

Again we are approaching the end of a school year. At this time it is well for us to summarize our accomplishments for this period we have passed through. Have we lived up to our obligations as students and as citizens? ... Have we accomplished those goals which we set at the beginning of this year?

I feel sure that I can answer for you in saying that most of us have, but—what about the few who have not? Are those people forming habits of irresolution and easily accepting failure? Let us hope that these pupils will change their attitude.

The world is in need of people who are able to do constructive, worth-while things—people whose attitude is right. There will always be room for these people to make good.

Start preparing for that future now. Set your goals of accomplishment and strive your utmost to achieve them day by day.

I sincerely hope that all of our pupils will have an enjoyable vacation and will return in September with new resolution to do the very best work possible.

Betty's Broadcast

(Over Station J.A.J.H.)

Greetings, fellow students,

This is probably the last broadcast of its kind that ye olde reporter will give, as the doors of this dear old school are now closing behind us, and the doors of Senior High beckon us in. Of course, the doors of this building will yield new seventh graders, eighth graders, ninth graders and a few (?) unfortunates (if you know what I mean).

I think practically every ninth grader will agree that there is a difference in himself and in his attitude towards school since he entered Appleseed three years ago. Upon entering Appleseed in the seventh grade, everyone wondered if he would ever learn to know his way around the school, to the cafeteria, to the shop. I suppose the hardest rooms to find were 216 and 217, the art rooms, because they were out of the way. Besides getting acquainted with the building, there were more pupils and teachers to know.

And what about those general science and algebra tests the ninth graders were always talking about? Would we little, bewildered seventh graders experience them? Well, let's forget a few minutes and go on. At the end of the seventh grade, we brave, little pupils discovered that we knew enough about the school that we

We're Happy They're Leaving

Jim Goodman's and Rodney Blahnik's pranks.

Ted Bullock's habit of putting locks on backwards.

Certain ninth grade boys' habit of getting out of embarrassing situations.

Elaine Foncannon's "snore" when she laughs.

Bob Leppert. (On second thought, maybe we won't).

Phyllis Stanton's worrying about Hank all the time.

The hats those ninth grade boys got in Mohicansville.

Certain ninth grade girls who skipped school. But they came back awfully quick).

The silly girls who giggle over everything.

Billy Brook's crazy ideas.

The kids who stay out of school months at a time!

Gene Carlisle's loud, striped shirts.

All ninth graders, so we can be promoted to their superior position.

Those girls who insist on turning their home rooms into "beauty parlors." (boys too)

REMEMBER WHEN

We came to Appleseed as bashful seventh graders?

Jack Brandt could have been called bashful?

"Cass" Wilging had long hair?

The announcement of queen and attendants caused so much excitement and anxiety?

We beat Simpson in football?

The door fell down on the stage in a play that the dramatics class was giving?

Shannon Talley, Kent Nieswander, and John Hittenrauch went to Appleseed?

A certain group of ninth grade girls went to Ashland?

The boys who went out for football didn't smoke?

HELICOPTER SMASHES BIG BEN! WORLD SET TEN YEARS AHEAD

Crash! Bang! Boom!

What is that awful noise?

Oh, it is some crazy amateur helicopter pilot running into the tower in London that holds the Big Ben clock. Something must be going wrong inside it because—look, it is jumping ahead ten years. This controls the time for the world and now the whole earth is ten years ahead. Golly, what a change. Look toward the sky and see Dick Dillon trying to land a new type of helicopter, just invented by Gene Carlisle, in Elsie Kinkel's back yard. Coming back down to earth we see Elsie Kinkel and Oleta Novotny (who is now Mrs. Dennis Ryan) running the opposite direction so as to escape injury by the helicopter. Leaving this touching scene we wander back to good old Johnny Appleseed which is now in capable (?) hands of principal Eddie Reeder. Going into the gym we see Peggy Douville, nee Peggy Cole, trying to teach her gym class the new rules for girls basketball as written by Jack Brandt and John Wilkerson. Deciding Peggy won't succeed we borrow the latest Rein Roadster and go toward the hospital. Hearing cries of agony we gather that Dr. Haas, assisted by nurse Elaine Foncannon are just finishing a delicate brain operation on Martha Tracy. Outside of the hospital we run into Charles Gottas trying to sell his latest reducing method to Phyllis Stanton who keeps insisting that she doesn't need it. Wandering on we see the office of Dr. William Brook who is trying to think of a way to drill teeth and play tennis at the same time. His victim at the moment is Lowell McCracken.

Wandering out towards the Woy Waxler Wesidential Wegion (It sounds okay, anyhow) we see the new Shelley Swank Swimming Pool which has just opened and strutting around the pool we see Nancy Galbraith showing off a new green bathing suit which was styled by Dave Rondel. Sitting under a large beach umbrella we spot Fred Miller proposing to Marian Haring. Not wishing to impose upon this beautiful scene we decide to take a bus down town to see what is sizzling there. As we enter the bus we see none other than Rodney Blahnik driving and sitting on the back seat are Bob Leppert and Jim Goodman, now the world champion poker player arguing as to whether Nancy Osbun or Mary Ann Harry will win the next presidential campaign. After listening for a while we discover that we are down town already. As we get off the bus, Larry Sanborn gets off behind us. He informs us that he is on the way to the courthouse to get a divorce from his sixth wife. His former wives being Colleen Messmore, Lila Cook, Pat Massa, Barbara Conner, Betsy Weller and Nancy Haupt. After leaving Larry we walk down Main Street and run into Bob Richards who informs us he is going to Harriett Lutz's Pet Shop which specializes in cats, to buy some white rats to scare his wife, the former Ruth Schaaf, out of the house so he can get up a little "crap" game. Coming to this "event" are Jerry Hayes, Catherine Wilging, who is now queen of burlesque, Russell Cline her personal manager, Bill Eggleston and Marshall Timmons, who is the fat man in a local circus. Going on down Main Street we meet Lee Balyeat who is now owner, manager and proprietor of the Balyeat Mattress Company. He tells us in very regretful tones that he has just tried a new girl to inspect the mattresses and she is terrible. He also tells us that the girl's name is Gerri Stall. Leaving Lee and all his troubles we go out Park Avenue and see a large neon sign on the Traxler Theater which tells us that for one performance only Harold Butzloff and his Bob cats will appear in person. Harold formed his now nation-wide famous Butzloff Bob Cats about three years ago. Since then he has risen to fame. On the screen will be the latest Poffenbaugh Production called "Voice of the Turtle" featuring Vera Saleste. As we enter the theater we see Eldon Roberts sitting in the back row with Marjorie Wells. The picture was very good with Jim Baehr as Vera's leading man. Peeking around the curtains is Jim Lowry who is the stage manager. Leaving the theater we stroll out Park Avenue. Right outside we see Joe Dillon who has a sign on him advertising "Joe's Smokehouse." Wandering on out the avenue we come to the mansion of Mr. and Mrs. James Shelly and his wife, the former Barbara Jordan. Playing in the swimming pool on their lawn are five beautiful children. Taking care of the children in starched uniform are Catherine Donley and Phyllis Haldeman. Going back toward town we see the Jeanette Shafer Beauty Salon, which specializes in dying hair. Looking through the window we see Irene Beach and Betty DeLaney trying out a new type of blonde rinse on Shirley Brigham and Marilyn Treisch. Suddenly we hear music and see a band led by Kenny Scott, come marching up the street. In the front row we see Bob Catlett still swinging out on his trombone. Next comes Martin Bricker leading his troop of Boy Scouts. Martin has just received the rank of Eagle Scout. Right behind the boys come the Girl Scouts led by Mary Ann Russell and her assistant Grace Sheaf. Next follows the secret society "Sons of the Zombies" led by Leroy Douville.

Strolling down the avenue we see Jimmy Teschler selling the one and only Hess Hornet News Journal and on the front page we read about the great fire in Hunt Brown's Night Club which featured Kate Karbula's Corning Cobblers starring Betty Dysart at the

Poem and Essay Contest Held in Ninth Grade

With all the ninth grade English classes contributing, the ninth graders sponsored an essay and poem contest the last six weeks of school. The two suggested topics were (1) "In Memorium"—a poem or essay dedicated to men in the service who died in action and in doing so passed on the "torch" for the youth of America to carry; (2) "My Sentiments Upon Leaving School." The selected ones were read at the ninth grade assembly.

PRESS RECEIVES RATING

In the annual contest for school publications held by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association in March, 1945, the Appleseed Press won a first class rating for 1944. The Press received this award twice before, for the 1943 issues and those of 1941.

Johnny Appleseed also received the Victory Star for the part it played in contributing to the Nation's war effort. The Press received this award last year also.

FASHION FLASHES

Brown and white saddle shoes are in the top line of shoes for the summer. They are worn with almost everything and everywhere.

Two piece suits are nice for sports, the jacket can be taken off and you have a sun dress and that is nice for tennis.

Hair barrettes are still tops. But now they are made in plastic, wood and metal. They come in almost every color of the rainbow. Your name can be engraved on them all.

The plastic initials are very striking on a dark sweater or jacket.

Friendship rings are plain bands with a small bell or heart attached to the band.

Bright printed skirts and dresses are pretty, especially if the print is large.

Draw string necks on blouses or skirts are striking, drawn with a gay colored ribbon.

Betty's Broadcast

wouldn't get lost the following year, which was for most everyone the eighth grade. Now in this grade we were getting into more responsibilities. For the girls it meant the possibility of being chosen the next years G.A.A. officers. For everyone it meant the signing up for ninth grade classes.

After deciding that the eighth grade wasn't so difficult after all, we stalwart characters moved on to that one and only glorious ninth grade. One of the first important things for the ninth graders to do is elect their officers, who proceed to make plans for the following year, mainly the picnic and party. Also this is the time that the once seventh graders find out all about these algebra and general science tests they have heard so much about.

As the doors slowly close behind us, we return the good-byes to the present seventh and eighth graders and wish them all the luck they will need to bring them through to graduation from dear old Johnny Appleseed.

Your reporter,
Betty

Tournaments Played

Tournament games are something that every girl and her team look forward to. Recently the girls played their three rounds and the final off. The scores with the rooms high point girl, and captains are as follows:

Eighth Grade

In the Finals just the two top teams play, and the winner of this game is the Champion team.

The Final was between the Bob-Cats and the Bangs. The score was 16-4 in favor of the Bangs. Barbara Perry was high point girl of this game with 12 points.

Ninth Grade

LEADERS' CLUB HIGHLIGHTS

Leader's Club members that have been in Leaders for two straight years are being complimented on their fine work. These are some of the best scorekeepers in Leaders, because they have been able to keep their grades up above average and score many games for practice. These girls are as follows:

Nancy Osburn is the assistant editor of the Press. She is also in G. A. A. and Glee Club and Scouts. Her hobbies are collecting miniature vases and collecting records. Nancy's favorite color is blue and she likes to see girls in Joyce Shoes and slick skirts and boys in saddles and bright sweaters. She reports to 208. She also says steak is her favorite food.

Ruth Schaaf a very active girl around school, is in G. A. A., Glee Club, Bible Study Club, Band and Orchestra. Ruth states her favorite food to be baked beans and blue as her favorite color. "Boys look good in plaid shirts and saddles, and girls, in saddles and jackets and skirts that don't clash with each other," says Ruth. Mrs. Brune is Ruth's homeroom teacher, which makes her homeroom 208.

Betty Calmes is in G. A. A. Her favorite food is chicken and she has no particular hobby. Her favorite color is blue and she likes to see girls and boys both in saddles. Girls, she thinks, should be dressed in peasant blouses and skirts. "Boys," she tells us, "should wear T shirts or plaid shirts." Her homeroom is 101.

Jo Ann McCombs is editor-in-chief of the Press. She is also in Scouts, Monitors, Bible Study Club, Glee Club and G. A. A.. Ann's favorite food is steak and her favorite color is blue. Her hobby is working on the "Press." She thinks boys look sharp in bright, colored plain sweaters and saddles and girls in plain colored dresses

COACH'S CORNER

On the basis of comparing times and distances, the Appleseed-Simpson track meet to be held on May 24, 1945, at the High School, will be another nip-and-tuck affair. Remember last year it ended in a 50-50 tie.

Simpson is particularly strong in the short races and hurdles, whereas Appleseed holds the edge in the longer runs. According to present facts Simpson holds the edge to top the meet. The only real comparison to date is the score with Springfield Haywood, Simpson winning 72 to 28, and Appleseed winning from the same school by the narrow margin of 54 to 46. However, track meets are not won in advance but are won on the track and field the day of the meet and I know the Appleseed boys will let Simpson know they have been in a track piano with the Ward twins as a sister-act called the Jumping Beans. We walk into Slocums Sloppy Saloon and sitting down and ordering "rum and coco cola" we see Cliff Hardin drinking his fifth drink. Wandering through the linoleum padded hall laid by Ruth Smith and Edith Wise we run into Ralph Stull who is now a super-duper blackmarket operator selling L.S.M.F.T.'s. Coming out of the Sloppy Saloon we hear a crash and rushing to the corner we see Ted Bullock and his wife the former Ruth Beckel in a wild fist fight. It seems Ted didn't get in 'til 3 a. m. because he was having a hot poker party with Beverly Van Cura and Marilyn Sutter who is now Mrs. David Bell. After this misfortune we hear church bells and when we arrive at First Methodist we see Rev. Jack Breneman uniting Tom McCollough and Carol Van Steenburg into Holy Matrimony. Continuing on a few doors we see Douglas Black and George Moats working in Calvin Jordan's Jelly Joint specializing in McVic-ar's Mulberry meringue. After feasting on the goodies we come out into the street but meeting a short rain shower and not wanting to get wet we dash into Floyd Hock's Hock Shop and Floyd takes over the task of showing us different articles which were hocked by some of our friends. Martha Schooley's diamond given to her by Rex Driskell was hocked for ten bucks and Janice Hoffmann's ruby-studded shoes for two bucks. We hear some late gossip from Floyd and he says that Johnnie Christian was last heard of by winning a free trip to France because of her excellent ability in French.

We hear that Maxine Sargent had to get a G.I. haircut given by Dave Carto Cutting Society, because she entered the Wacs. She is now a captain first class.

The sun is shining now so we go on up Marion Avenue and find that the old Shaw's Drug Store has been turned into a modern rest home and is run by Pete Vogt and his obedient wife Bernice Bauer. Going west we come to Harry Badger's Date Bait Park where the class of '45 is having a reunion. We recognize most of the faces except Norman Close who is mining coal, Jerry Connors navigator in Egypt, Dale Ginniver discovering a new make in cigarettes, Stanley Hill a big league baseball pitcher. They were having a barbecue and the one and only Miriam Hardy is pouring whipped cream on the calf and she is assisted by Joanna Snyder, the wife of the mad scientist Robert Bush. We come to the Adam's First Aid factory where he has established Edwin Blackford as official manager. Some of the girls employed there are: Viola Hildebrand, JoAnn Lehnhart, ballet dancer in daytime, Mona Fyock and Marianne Morrow, Latin instructors in Washington, D. C.

In ten years time "Zeke" Huber has aged but Willard Richey and Dixie Scoles are still trying to learn something from him. Betty Calmes is sponsoring a child's nursery with Donald Clark now the world's best child caretaker assisting her. Ashby Paine, husband of Beverly Phallen, has started the Paines' Power Flower Shoppe and is assisted by Ernest Roberts who is studying to be a zoologist on the side. Ashby tells us he heard Pat Arnold and Beverly Gutchall are traveling in Alaska carrying their newly invented houses along with them. Colleen Peck and Mildred Schmitzer have gone into the jewelry business, their merchandise coming from Darrell Jividen's storehouse. By this time he is married and divorced a couple times. We notice a sign on Mulberry St. reading, The Lonely Hearts Canteen with Grace Dillon and Haleda Mike as Managers, and Sue McLausland, assisting. This club has a correspondence and they tell us Jack Warwick is stationed with the Military Police in Japan and that John Kern is a hot time band leader in London, England. We come across a poster in the Gross and Gorsuch Service Company which says, Jo Ann McCombs, vocalist, and Robert Patterson accompanying her on the piano will give a recital which will be held in Caton Auditorium.

As we start walking back toward the square we suddenly see Miss Doris Doggett gazed dreamingly at a bright green and red plaid dress. Trying to start a conversation with her I said, "I don't suppose many of the former teachers are left at Appleseed." She looked at us very queerly and then excused herself and, walked quickly down the street. After a few seconds it dawned on us that a loud speaker in the park was blaring out, "Big Ben is now fixed—it is now 4:30 p. m., June 1, 1945."

LOOKING BACK

The years at Appleseed
Are like a dream; indeed,
It seems like only yesterday
We came along this way.
The first day of the seventh grade
I was terribly afraid;
Everything was so different.
I planned never to be absent!
I Remember my first G.A.A. banquet;

There were so many girls I met,
The initiation was a scream,
No one meant to be mean.
We said some nursery rhymes
To educate our little minds.
That year we were permitted
To have our Pan-American exhibit.
Thus, the seventh grade ended
And to the eighth grade we were led.

We soon came back to school
To be run by all the rules.
Heartily in Glee Club we sang;
The rooms, they really rang.
The plays given were very fine;
We enjoyed them greatly at the time.

Again the banquet came;
Awards by us were gained.
The Student Council led by Joanne Fay
Over Good Citizenship Week held sway.

We soon came back full of pep;
Our class had quite a rep.
We hit Simpson for a looper.
Our principal was really grand,
Assemblies, dances, all were planned.

I'll surely miss the same old halls;
Though to detention we had many calls.

Jamison, our G.A.A. president,
Made G.A.A. a happy event.
Our paper won honors again this year.

We were all running in high gear.
We looked forward to award's day;
It meant more than we could say.
We leave some friends behind
But that we must not mind.
The teachers, too, have been so kind.

We've tried their patience many times.

A picnic, a party are yet to come;
It will end our round of fun.
We leave behind maroon and gold;
The red and white we then unfold.
And now we go to Senior High.
Appleseed, we say goodbye.

—Gerri Stall

Every Sunday Afternoon

There's magic on the air. There's the magic of a great singer, John Charles Thomas, bringing you songs you like, with the orchestra and chorus. And there's the magic of the true stories from the Passing Parade told by the Westinghouse story-teller, John Nesbit, from his vast collection of the strange and the wonderful. There is news, too, of the things the Westinghouse men of science are doing to help win this war and make a better future for all of us. Tune in on Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

Listen, too, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 8:00 P.M. to Ted Malone and his stories direct from the fighting front.
