Schools Closed For Second Time

Flu caused the students of Mansfield Public Schools to get two holidays. Schools were closed a second time on March 4, because so many of the teachers were absent and substitutes could not be found. The schools re-opened Monday, March 10, when the attendance was almost back to normal.

The first time, school was dismissed February 21, due to the illness of teachers and students. There were 25 teachers and 22 per cent of the students were absent in the city schools, while 420 students and 4 teachers were absent from Appleseed. The schools re-opened Monday, February 24, although many teachers and students were still sick. The Appleseed-Simpson basketball game was postponed because of the illness of the players. Later, the Mansfield Board of Health forbade public gatherings so the game was called off.

Party Held For Jr. Hi Glee Clubs

The combined ninth grade glee clubs of Appleseed and Simpson held a party in the Appleseed gym on February 9.

The main diversion of the evening consisted of dancing. Near the latter part of the evening, entertainment was provided by members of the glee clubs. Janice Swank presented the Charleston, a novelty tap number, Sharon Johns sang Stardust, Carmen Long sang a solo, My Hero. Sharon Johns played 12th Street Rag on the piano, followed by Marilyn Curl playing Improvisation and Melody. Closing the program was Winter Wonderland, as sung by Carmen Long, Marilyn Rauschert, and Janice Swank.

Refreshments were served, consisting of sandwiches, potato chips, and coke.

Committee chairmen were: Decorating, Myrna Sorgen; Refreshments, Barbara Houghten; Cloak Room, Donna Matthews; and Entertainment, Carmen Long and Janice Swank. Janice Swank and Myrna Sorgen were the chairmen of all arrangements.

Dr. Wain Speaks At P-TA Meeting

On Thursday, February 21, the Johnny Appleseed Parent-Teachers Association held a meeting in the school auditorium. Mr. Harold Rauschert presided as president.

During the business meeting, the Association voted to buy a metal bicycle rack for the school.

Dr. Harry Wain, head of the Mansfield Public Health Department, spoke on the subject of narcotics. In connection with this, a movie entitled "Teen-Age Drug Addicts" was shown.

The program included a talk by Dr. Douglas Fessenden on health education. Also, Mr. William E. Weidner spoke on speech correction.

Refreshments were served in the band room following the meeting.

Speaker Claims Trip to Moon Possible In Present Students' Lifetime

On Thursday, February 14th, students of Johnny Appleseed were thrilled and spell-bound by the unusual and strange show, "Out of This World," presented by Robert T. Edgar. It was certainly among the best of the school year 1951-1952.

He presented the show, built around the idea of taking a rocket ship to the moon, from the inside of a stage setting resembling the inside of a space ship-to-be. There were numerous dials on the setting, among them a speedometer that registered miles per hour and miles per second, and a gravity meter that lit up for show effects.

He opened the show by explaining that it should be possible, according to scientists, to send a rocket ship to the moon, and that we will be around to see it. He said that it should be around 1985, 33 years from this present year.

He then wound into the subject of Mount Palomar observatory on Mount Palomar in southern California. His father was one of the inventors of the giant telescope there. He (his father) designed the room mounted on the telescope. He then showed pictures of the 200-inch telescope and mirror inside the observatory. He also explained how familiar pupils in White Sands, New Mexico were with rockets and described a take-off of a rocket ship which he saw.

Bumpus Selects Girls' Ensemble

Miss Eurita Bumpus, director of seventh grade music, has chosen a nine-voice girls' ensemble as a possibility for the Spring Concert.

The girls, if they meet Miss Bumpus's expectations will partially represent the seventh grade in the concert.

First sopranos are Sandra Dunn, Elaine Grosskoph, and Willeen Huck. Second sopranos are Carol Neal, Gail Kershaw, and Jan Eberly. Altos are Georgia Hart, Marilyn Jones, and Nancy Popp.

The music classes are concentrating mainly on part singing in preparation for eighth grade music.

After reexplaining about rocket ships, he then explained the stage setting as that of his rocket ship Orion, in which we were to take an imaginary trip through the universe. We were to use liquid fuel in the earth's atmosphere, and atomic fuel in space, where it could hurt no one.

The pictures that were shown during this portion of the assembly included one each of the earth from 2000 miles up and 4000 miles.

"Off to Good Start" Says Zimmerman

The shop classes of Mr. A. J. Zimmerman and Mr. Harry Hostetler are now working through a lull period in the school year, just following the semester change.

A number of Mr. Hostetler's ninth graders are making complete plans for model houses, and are then building them. One boy has made a complete wooden scale model garage. The seventh graders are just getting started with their elementary mechanical drawing, and are coming along very nicely. Another ninth grade class, on the vocational course, is doing blueprint reading and architectural drawing.

Mr. Zimmerman's 8th grade classes are working the first six weeks term in wood shop. From there they will move to metal shop for the remaining twelve weeks. "So far they are off to a very good start", Mr. Zimmerman says.

PRESS TAKES FIRST PLACE

The "Appleseed Press", school newspaper of Johnny Appleseed junior high school, has placed first in the annual Columbia Press Association school newspaper contest. The John Simpson paper, the "Simpson Times", also got a first position rating.

Last year, the "Press" received the second place award among the hundreds of entries, while the "Times" has been a constant top honor winner for the past few years.

Advisors for the "Appleseed Press" are Mr. Frank Pival, editorial staff, and Mr. J. J. Thoms, business staff. Jeanne Fay is editor-in-chief. Mary Elizabeth Glessner, assistant editor, is acting editor in Jeanne's absence. Beverly Boals is business manager of the business staff.

Appleseeders Place In Legion Contest

Deanna Mihalick won first place for the girls in the ninth grade in the American Legion Essay Contest. Mary Elizabeth Glessner came in third. Ted Linham and David Bryner held second and third places for the ninth grade boys.

The subject for the contest was What Old Glory Means to Me. All ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students of public, private, and parochial schools were eligible to enter this contest.

The essays were to have no more than 600 words and no less than 400 words. They were graded for originality, value of thought, choice of language, sentence structure, and paragraphing. The most attention, however, was given to how well the idea was put over.

There are to be twelve winners in the state contest. These people will be awarded an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D. C.

GAA Planning Annual Banquet

The Johnny Appleseed Girls Athletic Association has been very busy lately earning money for awards and planning for their annual banquet and dance. The organization has as its advisor Mrs. Sara Fritz, girls physical education teacher.

The G.A.A. has been holding noon dances and charging a five cent admission price. They hope to raise enough money in this way for awards to be presented at the banquet, March 28. The members receive an award for every 500 points they earn. For the first 500 points a "52" is given to the ninth graders, a "53" to the eighth graders, and a "54" to the seventh graders. These numerals represent the year when the girls will graduate from Appleseed. When the member earns 1,000 points she is given an emblem with the letters G. A. A. on it. For 1,500 points she receives an "A" for Appleseed. When a member earns 2,000 points she is presented with a small gold pin.

Also the members have been busy planning for their annual banquet and dance which will be held March 28. The banquet will be open to only members and this year the dance is open to only members and their escorts.

Last spring the officers to serve this year were elected and then announced at the annual picnic in June. The president is Deanna Mihalick, who reports to homeroom 205. Deanna claims her favorite subject is algebra. Her hobby is watching TV and her pastime is talking on the 'phone with "Frankie". Her favorite clothes are jeans and old shirts. Deanna says being chosen president is a wonderful honor and she certainly hopes she can live up to it.

Art Exhibit Gets Hawk's Clay Turtle

Maribel Hawk, a student from Miss Herring's ninth grade art class, mailed a clay turtle which she made to the Cleveland Art Exhibit being held at the Halle store, March 14 to 17. If Maribel wins the prize, her turtle will then be sent to the National Exhibit in Pittsburgh. Maribel also took first prize in the poster contest held by the dental clinic.

Miss Herring's ninth grade art classes were making pottery and figureens from clay. The seventh grades were making thick and letters, and also single stroke letters.

Illustrated books and 1952 calendars are being made in Miss Stark's art classes. The eighth grade art sections are completing a child's illustrated book. When they are complete there will be eleven to send to a children's hospital. Every child is responsible for one illustrated page. Each cover will be differently designed by one member of each section.

The ninth grades are completing 1952 calendars. Each month is illustrated with the appropriate picture for that month. Some are making linoleum cuts to use for block printing on textiles.

Trip to Moon Possible

At this point, he explained how difficult it would be to eat, as your food would have to be spiked down to the table, and if you opened your mouth, it would go floating away and you would have to have a steward catch it for you, as he knew how to float correctly in space. Your bed would be a hook, rope, and belt. You would fasten the hook onto a hole in the wall and buckle the belt around your waist. You would then sleep on your "air-conditioned mattress." This part of the show brought quite a bit of laughter from the students.

The next pictures (all were drawn from scientists' conceptions of what the planets were like) were of Mars from one of its two moons, from its ice-cap, Saturn from five of its nine moons, each a few thousand miles closer than the last. Next was the smaller-but heavier than earth Pluto and of the universe of Nebula, similar to our Milky Way universe. In a picture of our sun, he had a picture of the earth next to one of the flames from the sun, and the flame was approximately twenty times larger than our earth. Next he showed views of our moon from various thousands of miles away, and finally, on the moon itself. He said that, "on the moon, the only way to keep the air fresh would be to keep live plants in an airtight hut in which everyone would live, and instead of bulky soil, have them use liquid chemicals for food."

He also put on a Buck Rogers helmet that he said would be somewhat on the order of what people would wear while on the moon.

Electricity is Assembly Theme

Mr. Myron Miller from the Ohio Edison Co. presented to the pupils of Johnny Appleseed a program on "Safety in the Home with Electricity."

Mr. Miller told us that there are electric wires all around us, but aren't always seen. He also said that fuses were used to prevent our wires from getting too warm.

Mr. Miller said that in one incident on Christmas a child who had its leg on the cool air register reached over and put its finger in one of the Christmas tree light's socket. This child died instantly because the lights were not connected correctly. We were also told that if the wires were insulated they would not give much of a shock or start a fire.

Many demonstrations were also given about how to use electricity. Mr. Miller has worked for the Ohio Edison Co. for over twenty years. He has been all over the company's territory.

He has talked to as many as 3000 people in one day. He was a farmer, teacher of science, and a football coach at Mount Vernon. During fire prevention week he talked to over 12,000 people in Warren and Youngstown.

Advisors for the club are Mrs. Oehling and Mrs. Osbourn, with president, Liz Schaefer; vice-president, Susie Cook; secretary, Pat Hallabrin; and treasurer, Barbara Jones; program chairman, Mary Louise Bosh; and Dianne Cook as devotions chairman, helping to plan all the activities. On March 4, Miss Gerwin of the Y.W.C.A. will teach the group square dancing. Other equally enjoyable sessions will follow.

Grade Cards Postponed

The closing of schools resulting from the flu epidemic caused the postponement of grade cards from March 12 to March 19.

To a lot of the students this postponement probably was a great disappointment, especially with the possible thought in mind that the wearisome task of taking tests might be eliminated. But horror of horrors the tests still have to be taken!!! However with these few added days of grace caused by the unexpected but happy vacation, we all might be able to make even better test grades.

The Spring and The Student

Spring brings to most of us everything but studies. It brings birds, flowers, showers and tracked lawns.

Tracked lawns, to a lot of us that doesn't mean much, but it should. With the weather too warm for snow and rain taking its place we certainly do have some soft muddy lawns. With the help of a lot of us those lawns become deep printed foot puddles. You may think "Oh, who cares! Those little tracks won't hurt anybody's lawn, and I can wear my boots so I won't get my feet wet, and then mother won't know because there won't be tracks on the carpet."

My, that does sound like a lot of us saying that but just think how those people feel about us. All the neighbors around our homes and especially around our school. Going to and from school we hardly think of them. If sometime when we were walking home and we thought of these things I'm sure we wouldn't have as many complaints as there are.

So, since spring is coming and rain with it, let's all stay off the lawns and keep them trackless.

THE IDES OF MARCH

'Beware the Ides of March!' This quotation is a familiar one to those who have read the history of Julius Caesar. As the story goes, Caesar jeered when a fortune teller warned him to beware of the week of th fifteenth in March. Littl did he know that he was to meet his doom within that period of seven days.

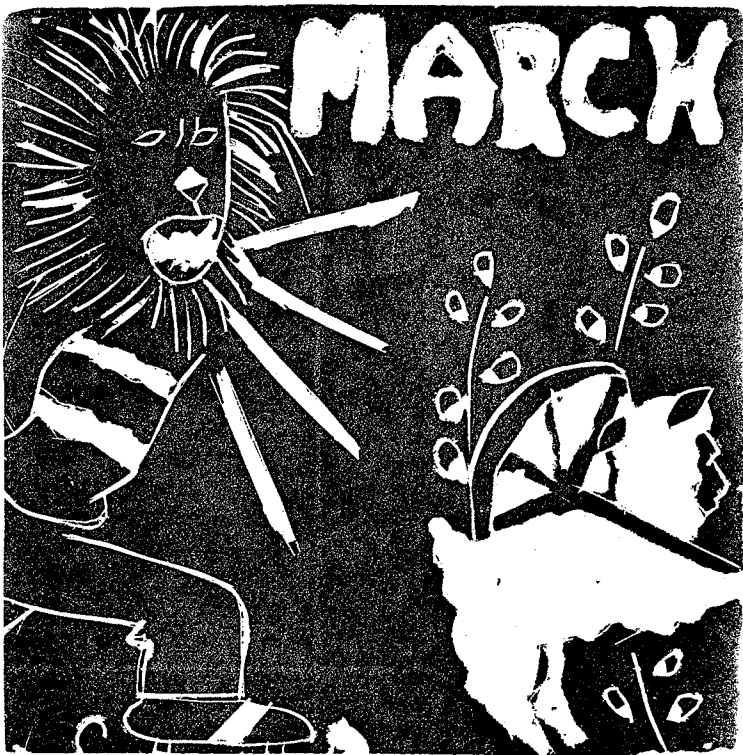

Now, many years later, the American people are not dependent on a fortuneteller to warn them of their "doom" in March. The fifteenth of that month finds millions of people in the United States dutifully but painfully filling out their income tax blanks. Yes, it is a worrisome time for many, but at least they have a measure of satisfaction in the fact that, unlike Caesar, they can look forward to many more "Ides of March!"

LIPSTICK

It seems that some people have nothing to do but get into trouble . . . to say nothing about getting other people into trouble, too. Such people are those that go around marking ondoorsand walls of rest-rooms with lipstick. Then some person with a new white blouse comes along and bumps into such a door and their blouse is no longer white. Lipstick is ver ydifficult to get out . . . if you can get it out.

Another problem is that lipstick will not come off the doors. Along with that, it is a wonderful "varnish remover".

Let's not ruin things and ruin them for others. Let's try to be someone Appleseed will be proud of.

St. Patrick's Day Inspires Imaginary Trip to Land of Shamrock

Let's take an imaginary trip to a little village in Ireland, and find out just how important St. Patrick's Day is to the Irish.

As we enter the village, we hear gay music. We then ask one of the passing villagers just what is going on and find that a St. Patrick's Day celebration is going on at the village square. We arrive to find that everything, from various foods to story telling and dancing, is in the square.

"Let's wander over and listen to an old man telling a group of children some old legends." Someone suggests, so we procede to this section of the square. Why, he's telling about the time St. Patrick rid Eire of all its snakes.

The next suggestion was that we walk over and watch our dancers doing the Irish Jig. accompanied by bagpipes. They're quite good but we find ourselves wondering about St. Patrick and the Shamrock.

We decide to ask that old story teller, as he'll probably be able to tell us a lot. So we go over and ask him.

"Why, St. Patrick's Day," he said, "was the original feast day of St. Patrick. He's the one who found Eire all heathen and left it all Christian."

"What about the Shamrock?" we ask.

"The Shamrock," he says, "is the national flower of Ireland. St. Patrick picked it because its three small leaves represent the Holy Trinity."

We thank the old man very much and walk over to one of the long tables of food. A woman comes rushing up to us.

"I'm Mrs. Mulligen. Can I help ye lads and lassies?" We thank her very much and she fixes us a dinner that should be fit to set before a king. After we're done we thank her again and stroll over to where we find a parade just beginning. They have quite a good band of bagpipes don't they? Just look at that huge Shamrock on that float and that statue of St. Patrick. I'll bet the people of this vilage must have worked for weeks for this festival.

The times passes quickly and soon we must leave. We leave with a better understanding of what St. Patrick's day means to some people.

THIS and THAT

By Wiz

The type of boy I most respect is one who is neat in appearance and one who is courteous and kind to everyone, regardless of their class or station. He must have pep but not be silly or smart. He must be dependable. His ideals, thoughts and actions should be of the highest type, in order that both girl and boy friends would be proud to have him as a companion and friend. Personality is important. He need not necessarily be an athlete, but he must be interested in athletics. He must be well liked by his teachers and by both boys and girls. He should take and interest in the affairs and activities of his school. And last, but not least, he should be a thorough gentleman. I admire the boy who can meet adverse conditions and come through smiling. If a boy could fill these qualifications, I would consider him an ideal boy.

Fashion Firsts

By Jean MacLean

Once again here it is almost time for the Gym Circus and the G.A.A. banquet and dance and then the next thing we'll know Spring will be upon us. It is certainly very evident that spring is just around the corner because of these rainy days we've been having and, too, there are quite a few cases of "SPRING FEVER".

Speaking of Spring many cotton dresses are being shown in different stores, and according to some of the top fashion magazines, plaids seem to be very popular again this year. Then there are nylon and orlon materials which look like cotton, linen, or wool. The advantage of these materials is that they don't need to be ironed and they won't shrink or stretch.

It seems the two most popular outfits that will be worn to the G.A.A. banquet and dance March 28 will be dressy dresses and suits. Most of the ninth grade girls are going to wear heels.

Jewelry is another thing that seems to be emphasized. Novelty bracelets as well as plain ones are extremely popular. Then, too, there are pearl necklaces with bracelets to match.

Dinner Party

A dinner party before the "Snowman Trot", the dance sponsored by the ninth grade on January 25, was held at the home of Hugh and Bob Welsh at 641 Davis Road. The guests arrived at 6:30 and dinner was served.

Paula's Prevues

By Paula Disler

Any casual visitor to the Appleseed gymnasium during the last two weeks would have been treated to some part of a prevue of the Applesed Gym circus.

During practically very period, both boy and girl students have been preparing for their part in the circus, which is to be presented March 21. Practically the whole student body of the school is participating, through work and stunts worked out in physical education classes.

A group of students selected from all classes will give a demonstration of modern dance. Ninth grade pupils will present a square dance with both boys and girls participating; ninth grade girls will present a tumbling demonstration which they are rehearsing after school and two ninth grade girls' basketball teams are practicing at noon periods for an exhibition game. Captains of the two teams are Jean MacLean for the Reds, and Kay Alexander for the Whites.

Members of the Eighth grade girls are preparing a tumbling demonstration and the seventh graders will give both a tumbling performance and a relay exhibition.

Annual Simpson - Appleseed Game Off; Flu KO's Plans for Championship Bout

The annual city championship basketball game scheduled for Feb. 13 and then later re-scheduled for February 20 has been cancelled.

In making the announcement, Dr. Douglas Fessenden said the recent outbreak of flu in the city was the motivating force behind the decision to call off the game. Both teams were severely hit by disease.

The game was postponed the first time when Simpson reported seven of their first ten players as being ill. At that time Dr. Fessenden, director of health, physical education and athletics in Mansfield schools, met with Fred LaRue and Wilbur Young, junior high faculty managers. They decided then that another postponement would cause cancellation of the 18th game in the series.

Of the previous seventeen contests, Appleseed has dropped fourteen while winning but three. The most recent win was two years ago; last year Simpson copped the trophy.

Two days before the game six members of the Appleseed squad, including high scorers George Swank and Larry Zartman, were absent, and the contest was called off due to the earlier agreement.

Appleseed finished the season undefeated, winning all ten of their outings. Simpson dropped two out of eight, one of those two being to the tough Senior high reserve team. Pioneer George Swank meshed 178 points for a neat 17.8 markers per game. He led both teams in scoring. Zartman has 103 for second place.

St. Peter's is Eighth Victim

Despite a torried enemy uprising in late in the fourth quarter, Johnny Appleseed's undefeated Pioneers won their eighth straight cage contest and second in a row over St. Peter's parochial school January 31, 36-32. Appleseed defeated St. Peter's 49-33 last December 12.

Led by guard Altomonte, St. Peter's scored fifteen points in the last stanza to fall just four points shy of a tie and possible victory. The big guard was high point man of the game, chalking up eighteen markers. Pioneer George Swank was second, hitting five times from the field and six more from the gratis line for a total of sixteen points. His teammate, Larry Zartman, again fell short of the select-century mark, scoring but three for his season low. Zartman has ninety-six for the entire year.

Playing a game postponed from two days earlier, Appleseed started slowly, falling behind four to nothing in the opening moments of the game. However, they came back to take a ten-four lead by the end of the quarter. At half-time they led twenty-one to eight; by the end of the third stanza the Appleseeders had an eleven unit, 28-17 margin.

Swank Held to Thirteen Points

Mansfield Johnny Appleseed junior high school raced to its ninth straight basketball victory at Mount Vernon, February 6, defeating the Mt. Vernon high reserves, 32 to 22.

Appleseed started slowly, trailing at the first quarter 4 to 6. However the Pioneers moved into a 11-8 lead at halftime and increased the margin to 22-14 going into the final seven minutes.

Mt. Vernon clamped a tight defense around six foot five center George Swank, holding him to five field goals and three free throws for 13 points, a new season low for him. Swank had averaged 19 points a game until the game and now has just over eighteen per outing. He boosted his total to 165 markers for the season. Eddie Wilson, Appleseed guard, was second in the scoring parade with nine.

Ashland Falls as Pioneers Win No. 10

With big George Swank again topping the scoring column, Johnny Appleseed's undefeated Pioneers won their tenth straight cage game and second over the Ashland high freshmen February 7, on the Pioneer hardwood, 53-27. Appleseed was the victor in the first contest between the two teams January 10, when they won 47-26. Swank, who tipped in thirteen points, was followed closely in the scoring parade by Chapman of Ashland who had eleven, and Pioneers Jack Neal and Ron Sherrer who meshed ten each.

The Appleseeders got off to a flying start, gaining an eighteen to ten lead by the end of the first quarter, and climbed even higher by the second, scoring fifteen markers as against the opponents three for a 33-13 margin. At the finish of the third stanza, Appleseed led 45-25.

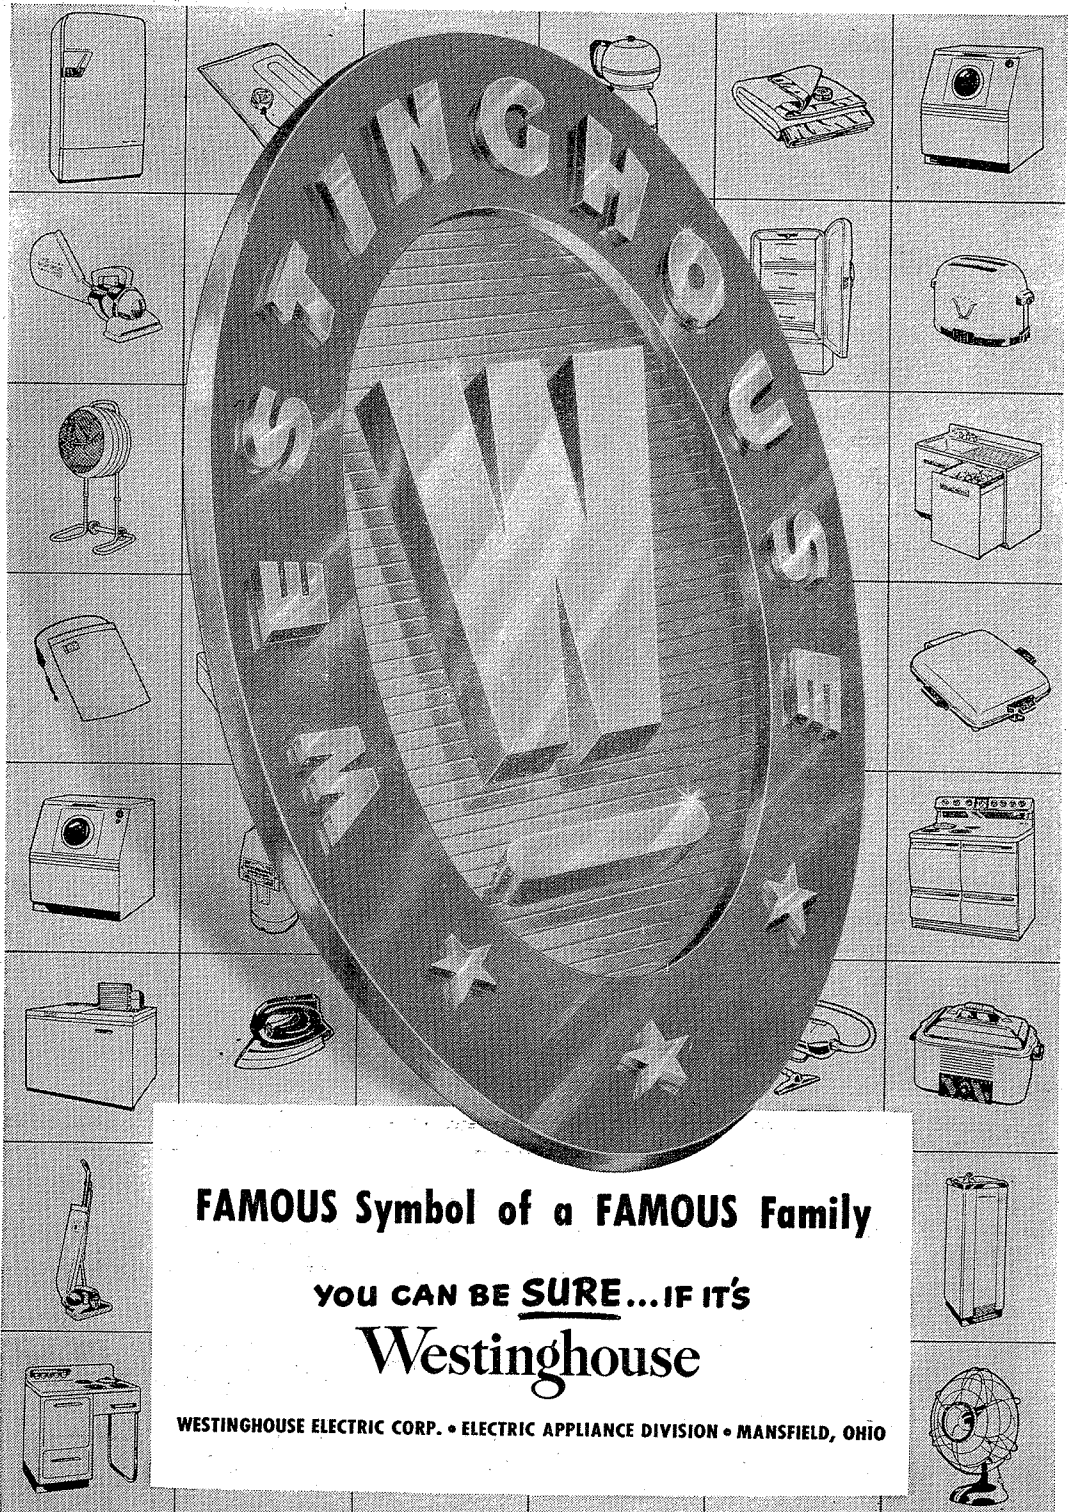

The Pioneers were without the services of Larry Zartman, second highest scorer on the team, for the first time throughout the entire season. He was sidelined by illness.

Tests Have More Than Nuisance Value; Help Students Select 52-53 Subjects

Perhaps you have been wondering about all the announcements about "Kuder Tests", Algebra Aptitude Tests", and "Geometry Aptitude Tests". The reason for these tests is to help students in selecting subjects for the school year 1952-1953, and, later in life, helping the aforementioned students choose vocations that suit their likes and abilities.

The "Kuder Tests" were given on Wednesday, February 27, and to students who were absent, at convenient times. On the tests were sets of three questions each, and answer sheets on which were "1"'s, and "3"'s. The three questions each concerned different occupations and the students were to punch with styluses the "1"'s corresponding to the occupation that would seem most desirable to them and the "3"'s beside the occupation that seemed least desirable. The students then counted their scores, arranged in such a way so that the questions pertaining to a certain subject would be punched through circles on the page, devoted to that subject if punched in a favorable answer to them. The scores were then put on a chart that showed the percent of interest in that subject.

The "Alebra Aptitude Tests", given on February 14th and 15th, were to give the students a general idea about taking the Algebra or the General Mathematics course in the ninth grade. They contained questions pertaining to formulas, equations, positive and negative addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division problems, constructing equations, etc., more or less a slight "preview" of what lies ahead in the Algebra Course. They, like the "Kuder Tests" were given during different periods of the day, each test, again like the "Kuder Tests", taking two periods for completion.

The "Geometry Aptitude Tests" took one period and were given to the 9th Grade Algebra students to show the students whether it would be advisable to take Plane Geometry next year, 2nd. Year Algebra not being in the Curriculum for the 10th Grade. The test covered such items as finding areas of triangles, squares, rectangles, cubes, trapezoides and the like. It also included judging the number of colored sides of cubes. These tests too, were given to students on the 14th and 15th of February.

These were the preliminaries to the selection of High School courses in the 9th and 10th grades. The discussion of 10th Grade courses was scheduled to begin during the week of March 3rd to 7th. Booklets explaining 10th, 11th, and 12th grade courses were passe d'out to 9th grade students. After this was completed, eighth grade students met in the auditorium where they were told about the various ninth grade courses and subjects, their uses later in life, what they will cover, the amount of credits toward graduation students will need and the amount they will receive from these subjects, and the requirements for college or various fields of labor that they will fill.

The tests were given by Mr. George W. Harmony, principal of Johnny Appleseed, and Mr. Fred Stobbs of the Personnel Department of the School Board, and assistant to Dr. Edwin W. Fench, acting psychologist for the School Board.

Maribel Hawk Wins Award for Health Poster

The week of February fourth was observed as Dental Health Week. It is sponsored by the Educational Committee of the Dental Committee, and is a red feather agency.

In connection with the week a poster contest was held. The theme for the posters was "Stop Tooth Decay, Brush Food Away." Maribel Hawk was the only winner from Johnny Appleseed.

The first graders in the schools were given tooth brushes and were shown the proper way to use them. Movies on dental care were shown through the schools during the week.

The thing Jeanne wants most is to have oodles and oodles of visitors from Johnny Appleseed come to visit her at her home, 113 Stewart Avenue.

Liquid Air Show Given at Assembly

Appleseed students saw some strange and fascinating feats performed when an assembly program of liquir air demonstrations was presented in the auditorium Feb. 28.

The program was by John Stover Sloane during the sixth and seventh periods.

Students saw a rubber ball, frozen so hard with liquid air that it shattered into tiny pieces when the lecturer threw it against the auditorium wall. He also froze a banana so that it appeared to be as hard as glass, and grapes were chilled to the point where they were hard as stones.

A carnation held under the liquid air was brought out so hard and brittle that it crumbled to tiny bits in his hand.

To emphasize the refrigerating quality of liquid air, resulting from the rapid expansion of the fluid when released from pressure, he fried an egg on a piece of ice, after first cooling the egg to some tremendously low temperature with his liquid air—the egg was so cold that the ice was warm enough to fry it!

After the program, Mr. Sloane said that he has presented his demonstration approximately 5,000 times and so far has come through without a serious accident.

Leap Year Day Ends With Dance in Gym

The Appleseed Press held its annual dance on February 29, 1952, in Appleseed gym at eight o'clock.

The name of the dance, "Printers' Pace", was furnished by Norma Egner from room 207. She was awarded one dollar and a free ticket to the dance. Second prize of fifty cents and a free ticket went to Susie Holdridge of room 104, who suggested the name, "Editors' Swing". Marilyn Yarman from 110 won third prize of twenty-five cents and one free ticket for her suggestion, "Sweet-heart Swirl".

The gym was gaily decorated in shades of blue, with glittering stars, and silhouettes appropriate to the theme of Sadie Hawk-in's Day.

Music for the dance was furnished by Herbie Kronenfeld's orchestra.
