NEW EDITORIAL STAFF PLAN

We will follow a different plan for our editorial staff this year. With each new edition of the Western Wind-Up we will shift to different duties on the staff. In this way we will be able to share and experience the various responsibilities of our school paper.

SCHOOL PATROL

The boys and girls of the School Patrols all over town have an invitation to the YWCA Pine Room on November 28, 1959.

There will be a cartoon show and a splash. The people on Patrol here are:

Capt. Clendon Parr
 Lt. Dan Starnes
 John Bechtel
 Leslie Brady
 Jalane Metz
 Paul McCullough
 Kay DeLong
 Kenny Kauf
 Jim Eckenrode

GROUP PICTURES

A photographer took group pictures this year. Last year he took individual pictures.

The pictures will come just before the Christmas vacation. They will be like an early Christmas present.

We hope you will like your pictures.

CHARLES PHILLIPS - 5

MOTHERS CLUB ENTERTAINMENT

On December 16th, the instrumental pupils of grades 4, 5 and 6 will give a program for the members of the Mothers Club. They will play some of their instrumental numbers for the mothers. There might be a special number also. The pledge to the flag will be led by Brownie Troop # 104. This will be the Christmas program for the Mothers Club. Some of the people that will be in it are: Kay DeLong, John Skulski, Kenny Christman, Marcy Ezzard, Carol Smucker, Barbara Stevens and Vicki Forster.

RONNIE HAMILTON - 5

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

A few weeks ago our school was very busy making posters and illustrations of why we need more schools. We had a program and a speaker to tell about it.

We were all hoping our parents would vote "Yes".

On November 4th, we were all very happy because the Bond Issue had passed. Now we will have more room and I'm sure we are all happy.

KAREN BLACK - 6

CIVIC FUND

Mr. Hamilton's class wrote the scrip for the civic fund announcement. Almost every pupil in the school gave some money for the civic fund. This fund is for TB, United Appeal and Polio. Our report shows 327 givers and $81.45 altogether. This fund shows that young people like to do their share, too.

VICTORIA OSBORN - 5

P.T.A. MEETING

The next P.T.A. meeting will be Jan. 15, 1960.

There will be a cake walk, also. It will be held in the gym and cafeteria. It will be the social meeting of the year.

You are all invited so why don't you come?

CHARLES LACE - 5

SPEECH CLASS

Mrs. Sollinger holds speech class in Room 14 every Monday and Wednesday morning for grades two through six. Speech classes are very helpful to children. For example some children who went to speech class last year have improved so much they no longer need to attend. Later this year they will use a tape recorder to let the pupils know how much improvement they have made in Speech Class.

The teacher goes into the first grade. She works with the whole class and shows strip films and uses demonstrations to help these young children overcome "Baby Talk" and gives practice exercises.

Mrs. Sollinger also holds hearing tests for anybody that has speech troubles.

NANCY BLACK - 6

***

THE SCHOOL LIBRARY

Our school is fortunate enough to have a very nice library.

The way we work our library is, if you happen to be passing by, you may look at some book you might like.

If you find any you would like, you could tell your teacher. She could get them for you to use.

We would like you not to keep them out longer than two or three weeks.

Some of the kinds of books we have are: Fiction, science, biography, history, geography, poetry and easy books for primary grades.

We would like you to use it as much as possible.

JEANNE HOUT - 6

***

THIRD GRADE SWIMMING LESSONS

The YMCA and YWCA will be taking boys and girls of the third grade to the YMCA and YWCA for swimming lessons by bus.

They will leave at 2:00 in the afternoon and try to be back at 3:00 P.M.

STEVEN DINGER - 6

THE PASSION PLAY

On Nov. 12, 1959, the fifth and sixth graders attended the Passion Play at John Simpson Junior High. It was beautifully performed. Val Balfour played Jesus Christ and his wife played the part of Mary Magdalene. It was the American Version of the 324 year old Oberammergau Passion Play.

One of the most dramatic scenes of the play was that of "The Last Supper". Jesus washed the feet of each disciple and at the close of the last supper scene, the lights went out and a single ray of light shown on the silver cup from which each disciple had taken a drink.

The crucifixion was a most touching scene. Mary Magdalene, Christ Mother and John stood weeping at the foot of the cross.

The Passion Play was first performed in 1634. It has been repeated every ten years since.

The lighting with all the lovely, soft colors and the background music added to the perfection of the entire performance.

MARCY EZZARD - 6

MISS ROBINSON

This year we have four new teachers.

One of them is Miss Margaret Robinson. She has taught at two other schools. One was in Ontario and the other was in Delaware County.

Another grade she has taught is the first grade.

She started teaching in 1956, because she likes teaching. She likes Grubaugh and the second grade.

LINDA GURNEY - 5

MRS. POFFENBAUGH

Mrs. Poffenbaugh is a new second grade teacher at Grubaugh. This is her third year of teaching school. She chose to teach because she loves children and she has always wanted to teach school. She taught the first grade at Galion. She says she likes Grubaugh very much.

PATTY SIMMONS - 5

MISS SMITH

Miss Smith is our new fourth grade teacher.

She has taught 1st grade through graduates in college. Her favorite grades are: 4, 5, 7, 11 and college graduates.

She went to college at Columbia University. She like Mansfield.

OUR EXPERIMENT

We had an experiment in science about fruit flies. First we got some cornmeal and a jar. Then we put in some grapes and put it outside for a day. Then we put a piece of paper in the jar and put cotton over the top and fastened it on. Then we watched their stages in life.

WHY THE LEAVES FALL

Once upon a time there was a princess who loved the leaves very much. She had an ugly grandmother who did not like the leaves. One day when the princess was ill the grandmother went to the attic and got a magic stick.

She went outside and made a wish. She wished that when fall came the leaves would fall and when spring came they would come back again.

EXCITING ADVENTURE

Our family visited the Toledo Zoo this past summer. It is a large zoo with many animals. One of the things I enjoyed was Wonder Valley, a section of the zoo for children. In this section are all young animals. They are not in cages or pens. They walk around the grounds and you can feed them.

HISTORY OF
THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving originated during the second winter the colonists spent in North America. It was first celebrated on December 13, 1621. The crops in New England were good, so William Bradford decreed a day of feasting to give thanks for the good crops.

In 1855, Virginia proclaimed Thanksgiving. In 1863, Abraham Lincoln changed the date to the last Thursday in November. For seventy-five years the date stayed the same but when Franklin Roosevelt changed it to one week earlier, he had to change it back to the last Thursday.

So today it still comes on the last Thursday in November and we still look forward to it just as much.

"INKY DINK"

In Room 7 we have published a newspaper. The editors were Lin Schmidt and John Imhoff. The reporters were the rest of the class. The typists were Mrs. Leite and Mrs. Schmidt. Mrs. Lee ran it off on the mimeograph machine. We stapled it together and took it home. It was a good newspaper.

DANNY PORTER - 4

THE TURKEY

There was once a turkey on a farm. It was very gay. He had a big, big tail. He was brown, red and orange. He was a private eye turkey.

One day he heard some squawking. He went to investigate. He saw a chopping block with blood on it. He saw an axe, too.

He hid in a haystack. He didn't come out until after Thanksgiving.

SNOW

Last night it snowed. It snowed big flakes and the snow came down hard. I thought it would stay on the ground but it didn't. It rained after I went to bed. When I got up and I looked out my window, there wasn't any snow on the ground.

BEAVERS

Beavers dam up streams with sticks and mud to form ponds around their big, one room houses with under-water entrances. At night they gnaw down trees and float branches through canals to the ponds. Beavers eat the fresh inner bark and also water plants and store branches under water for winter food. They mate for life. The young are born in the Spring. Beaver pelts are valuable. Their dams are important in flood control.

JUDY MASSIE - 5

ROCKS

My hobby is rocks. One rock that I learned about was quartz. Quartz is found in many rocks. It is found in granite, feldspar, mica and hornblende. Quartz is also found in gneiss and schist. The rock called quartzite is made up almost entirely of quartz. Sand is made by breaking up quartz rocks into tiny grains. However, the white desert sand is formed of the mineral, gypsum.

UNINVITED GUEST

Sue was going to have a Halloween Party. She invited eight friends. They were excited. There was going to be prizes, candy, cake and ice cream.

At last the day came. They all dressed up and hurried over. But there were nine and she had invited eight friends. Someone came who wasn't invited. They went on with the party.

When the party was almost over, Sue's mother asked the girls to take off their masks. All the girls took their masks off but one. It was the one in the witch's suit. She did not have a mask. She was a real witch.

The girls were afraid. They had never played or talked to or seen a real witch until then, but they were still afraid.

Every Halloween they fear the uninvited guest will return.

DIANE HANNEWALD -5

MY VACATION

On my vacation we went to Denver. On the way to Denver we crossed the Missouri and Mississippi River.

The next day we went to the Mint. The Mint is the building where they make pennies.

The next morning we went on a picnic up in the mountains.

Later we went up to Pikes Peak. When we came down we were going to Santa Clausland, but it was closed.

JUDY MASSIE - 5

MY VACATION

Last summer my family and I went to East Saint Louis, Illinois. After we had stayed there, we went on to Missouri. We stayed there for almost two weeks. I was going to take a pleasure ride on the Admiral, but my mother said we didn't have enough time. I was glad to come home to my friends. Next time we are going to Canada.

OUR TRIP

A year ago we went to Phoenix, Arizona on a train. We stayed in Arizona for five days. We saw the Mormon Temple, the Roosevelt Dam and one of the mountains we saw was called Camelback Mountain. It is called Camelback Mountain because it looks like a camel's back. We also saw Superstition Mountain. People say that those who go in the mountain looking for gold, never return.

After we visited Arizona we took a train to California. The weather was nice there. In California we saw the Pacific Ocean, submarines, the San Diego Zoo and we went to Disneyland.

Then we went to Colorado. We saw the Red Rock Mountains and the Red Rock Theatre. This is a place where they have Easter Sunrise Services and outdoor shows. Then we saw William Cody's grave, who was better known as "Buffalo Bill". This was the last place of interest on our trip.

***

MY TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

When I went to California, we saw Hollywood and we saw NBC News Broadcasting.

We saw many cacti in the desert. We saw many horses. I saw a real buffalo, too. We saw a two headed calf and some snakes.

I saw Disneyland and many other things.

PATTY WESTLER - 5

HEROIC ACT

One day my father went to work. On his way he saw a car coming down the hill. The car had no driver. My father ran after the car. He opened the door, pulled the emergency brake and drove over to the side. He called the police. They said they would take care of it.

OUR SCIENCE KIT AND EXPERIMENTS

In our room we have a Science Kit. In it there is a tuning fork, balance scale, blue and red litmus paper, six test tubes, five rubber stoppers, glass prism, two bare magnets, thermometers, glass tubing, test tube holder, compass, copper wire and many other things.

Some of the experiments we have done with it are making a door buzzer, a light switch, seeing if blue litmus paper turns red in hydrochloric acid and finding out if a balloon will blow up if put on a bottle with vinegar and baking soda in it.

RANDALL KOSTELECKY-6

OUR FIGURES

Our part in helping for the School Bond Issue was when we made our figures. We were asked to do it by Mr. Daniels. He gave us a piece of fairly large paper. First, we drew our figures. Then we painted them. Next we cut them out and mounted them on cardboard. Some of them appeared in store windows.

CHARLES DAVIS - 5

OUR TERRARIUM

Our class has a terrarium. A terrarium is a type of covered planter. Some of the plants we have in it are ferns, wintergreen, fungus, trailing arbutus, polypody, Virginia creeper and lichens. The terrarium helps to beautify our room.

***

JUNIOR SCHOLASTICS

Our room receives copies of the Junior Scholastics weekly. Each of the students chooses to report on a certain article.

The Junior Scholastics is primarily for grades five and six. It is a magazine and is very interesting. Our class feels that we have gained much knowledge from it.

JOHN SKULSKI - 6

***

U.S. AND CANADA MAPS

Our room made maps showing the physical features of the U. S. and Canada.

They were made of cardboard with salt and flour mixed together. We showed the mountains, the rivers and the lakes.

After they were dry we painted them.

It was a lot of fun.

LINDA GURNEY - 5

***

OUR AQUARIUM

In our room we have an aquarium. In it we have three fish. I brought two goldfish. Charles Lacey brought a calico fish. I brought some seaweed to put in it.

We also have a castle they can swim through.

To clean the water we fill a tube with water, leaving no air to get in. We put one hand in the aquarium with our fingers plugging the tube. We put the other in a lower bowl of water. Then let go. Air pressure pulls water from the higher bowl to the lower one.

OUR TRIP TO THE INTERNATIONAL FAIR

Miss Miles' class went on a trip to the International Fair at the Y.W.C.A. Let's pretend we are going on a trip to visit some of the countries that were represented there.

"First stop!" shouted the leader of the tour. It was Manchuria, China. A royal robe was there which was once worn by a leader of China. People on the streets had on sandal-wood shoes. Manchuria mines jade. There were many jade figurines.

"Second stop!" called the leader. We were in Japan. In little, dainty shops were Kokeshi dolls and Hokado dolls for sale. Kokeshi dolls are hand carved from wood. They are carved from one piece of wood, yet their heads are carved in a special way, so they move back and forth. Hokado dolls are known for their life-like features.

"Next stop, Africa!" We stopped at a friendly native African village. The kind chief showed us around the tribe where they were getting ivory from elephants. One of the natives was carving a very large and realistic elephant out of wood. We were fascinated and watched him finish it. In the old chief's hut there were many old relics. One was a warrior's club called zulu once used in battle.

Now to the land of enchantment, Sweden. The guide took us to a small town where it was snowing. Almost everyone was wearing reindeer skin shoes. As we passed the houses we saw oddly shaped doorbells of wood with strings across them. A wooden stick with a ball on the end was hit against the strings for the sound. On the outside of shops you could see beautifully shaped glass. Sweden is noted for its fine glass.

Now to the country of pyramids, Egypt. In an Egyptian house there was a beautifully decorated jewelry box. Inside the jewelry box were lovely copies of the jewelry found in tombs. On display in a dress shop was material like Queen Elizabeth's gown. It had golden threads in the material.

"Next stop, the boot country, Italy." At a little house in the window was a hand-crafted wagon and horse which were very prettily painted. Also there were in all sizes and colors, hand blown glass. Shall we enter this little house? Inside there are sheep herder dolls.

When invited into the small kitchen, everyone noticed how small their knives and forks are compared to ours.

The next two stops were our new states, the first one being Alaska. The snow was coming down very hard. On the streets Eskimos wore beaded, warm-looking shoes. Eskimos inside their huts, cheeks rosy from the fire, were carving totem poles. When finished they painted them.

Our second new state, Hawaii, land of volcanoes, was the next place we visited. Children on the warm sidewalks were beating bamboo sticks together. They made their own rhythm. Near a beach was a store that sold instruments. One was a beautifully finished ukelele. In another shop not far away we inquired about some green and blue glass bubbles in the window. The storekeeper said, "When the Japanese go fishing they have these glass bubbles on the nets to weight them down. Some come off the nets and float to Hawaii. The Hawaiians pick them up and sell them for decorations!"

"Last stop, Brazil, the coffee country!" shouted the leader. In a quaint shop was a plate with real butterflies concealed in it. Also in the shop was a tablecloth with 30,000 French knots made by one person. The people had on sandals made from hemp.

Our pretend trip was fun and on our real trip we were fascinated by seeing all of these interesting things from so many countries.

SHALE TO BRICK

On a beautiful October day, our class visited the Richland Shale Brick Company.

Mr. Simmons, who conducted the tour, first showed us the site of the raw material, shale. Shale is a type of clay found in layers in the earth. To learn the story of manufacturing bricks you must go back thousands of years, since making bricks is one of the oldest industries ever devised by man.

Some of the earliest brick was made over 4,000 B.C. and contained clay and straw. The clay was made ready by stamping with feet. Now we have better methods using better material and machines.

Fourteen years ago, they said this plant had enough shale to last about 90 years, but mining of shale has since increased about 3 times. In one day 160,000 bricks can be produced.

The shale is brought up from a deep gorge 70 feet deep by a conveyor. The conveyor is 720 feet long and is the largest in the U.S. After this it is taken to a machine that grinds it into smaller pieces. Then it is ready to be mixed with barium carbonate. Barium carbonate is used to keep lime out. Lime would make the bricks faulty.

Now it is mixed with water, then holes are made by a machine that looks like fingers. There are several reasons why the holes are made:

1 - It helps to hold the bricks in place while being cemented.

2 - The weight is less, therefore, it costs less to ship.

3 - It saves money for the plant.

Red brick has no chemicals added. That is the way it normally is. Other colors of brick must have chemicals added.

Later the bricks are stacked on cars that will go through the kiln. The kiln is like a huge oven. Its hottest point is 3,000 degrees, but it was only necessary once to have it 2,300 degrees. A kiln is operated by radio. The bricks stay in the kiln for 92 hours.

Inside, the bricks are gradually heated then gradually cooled. When they come out you could almost put your hand on them.

The standard size of a brick is: 7-7/8" in length - 3-3/4" in width and 2-1/2" in height.

OUR RABBIT

Room nine has a rabbit named Bootsey. We are keeping track of its weight and its food weight. Bootsey is a three month old baby bunny. We have a small scale to weigh him on. He is all black and the tip of his toes are white.

SATURN

Saturn, the planet with the ring around it, usually looks like the brightest yellow star in the sky, but it twinkles less than a star does. It appears to move very slowly among the stars, staying in each constellation that it visits for over two years. Its year (the time it takes to circle around the sky) is  $29\frac{1}{2}$  of our years.

Saturn is the sixth planet out from the sun.

MY VACATION TO WASHINGTON D.C. & NEW YORK

This summer my family and I went to Washington, D.C. We saw the Capitol building, The White House, The Bureau of Engraving, the Smithsonian Institution and the U.S. Museum of Natural History. We also saw Washington's Monument and Lincoln's Memorial. We went down to Mt. Vernon to see George Washington's home.

Then after two days in Washington, D.C.

we went to New York. We went up in the Empire State Building, we saw Rockefeller Center, went to see a T.V. show and went on a boat cruise. We went to China Town and went into a store there.

THE BAD ELVES

It was about a few weeks before Christmas. Up at the North Pole, Santa and his elves, Tricky and Funny, were getting ready for the big trip. Funny and Tricky had an idea for making trouble for Santa with the president. They invented an unbreakable doll for his daughter. They took the doll's head off and filled it with pie and put the head back on. After they wrapped it, Santa came in and told them he was ready to go.

The next morning, the president's daughter took the doll and dropped it. The head came off. The pie hit the president right in the face. His daughter laughed and laughed. The president ordered ten of them for his daughter and as for Funny and Tricky, they never sat down for a week.

MY FISHING TRIP TO CANADA

One day when our friends from Columbus were here, my Dad asked my boy friend, his Dad and me if we would like to take a fishing trip to Canada.

When we all said, "Yes", we started to mark our trip on a map. The next day my father wrote letter to see if the had a cabin for four

About two weeks later we got a letter saying: "We have a cabin for four in the week of September 12. Then my father wrote back and said, "Thank you very much. We will take the cabin and an Indian guide."

One month later our friends from Columbus came up again. Then we each made lists of all the things we were going to take and all the things we would need. My father said, "In two more weeks we'll be on our way to Canada."

On our way to Canada we traveled on the Ohio Turnpike. We went through the states of Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. When we got to New York we went to see Niagara Falls. After we had rested awhile we went on. When we got to the Thousand Island Bridge we mailed some post cards. Then we got something to eat. By the time we had got to the hotel it was 11:15 P.M. The hotel we stayed in was the Hotel Revere in Brockville, Ontario, Canada.

The next morning we had gone up the road about two miles when we saw an ocean going vessel. It was on the St. Lawrence Seaway. When we got to Maniwaki, Quebec, we went to a gas station and got the oil and grease changed. Then we got our Indian guide. After that we went to our cabin and unloaded the car.

While we got our fishing licenses, the Indian guide checked in. Then we started the fire and got dinner ready and ate. For the next four days we did nothing but fish, eat shore lunches and clean fish.

Thursday when we got finished eating and washing the dishes, John and I started to get our grips packed. The next morning we got breakfast, washed the dishes, made our beds and packed the car. After that we checked out and started for Maniwaki. When we got to Maniwaki, we left the Indian guide at his house and got our mothers and sisters a gift.

After we got through the American Customs and across the Thousand Island Bridge we got something to eat. That morning about 2 A.M. we got to a motel in Pennsylvania. The next morning we ate breakfast and started home. We got home about 4:30 P.M. We had a wonderful time.

SIXTH-GRADE TAX STAMPS

Mrs. Barker's room has been having a race between the boys and girls to see who can bring in the most tax stamps; also, the stamps largest in value.

So far it's about a tie. Whoever loses the race has to treat the other side.

Molly Mosey is the leader of the girls and I am the leader of the boys.

SECOND GRADE FEAST

On Tuesday at noon I visited my brother's classroom and found Mrs. Poffenbaugh making white aprons of paper. She explained that her room and Miss Robinson's second grade were getting together to celebrate Thanksgiving.

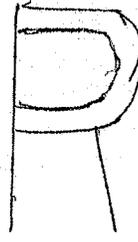

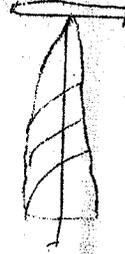

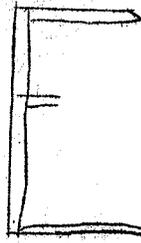

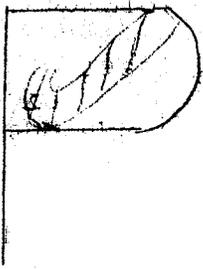

The boys were Indians with feathered head dress; some carried tomahawks and wore moccasins. All the girls wore Pilgrim caps; some wore aprons or surplice collars.

Both second grades met in room six. The children had drawn pictures to show for what they were thankful.

The feast began! Each child was served either apple or pumpkin pie and milk.

ROCKETS

They're blasting a rocket
Into the sky.
They're sending it into orbit
Way up high.

The count-down they're calling,
From ten to zero!
"We're blasting off
now!
Here we go!"

The first stage was blasting,
Now it is through.
The second stage is shoving us
Far away from you.

I like fall, the best of all,
With autumn flowers
and trees so tall.

Winter with its freezing ice,
Makes sled riding very nice.

Spring is very warm
and gay,
Helping flowers on their way.

Summer time is made for you
And all the little animals too.

On the streets down

CHRISTMAS

What is the time of the year when you see,
Stars, bells and gay
colored trees.

The stars shine so bright,
The bells ring-a-ling
You sometimes hear th
carolers sing.

Which part of Christmas do you like th
most,
The trees or St. Nick,
Who goes coast to coast

So now I'll stop and wish you cheer,
For a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.
